ARABS REJECT CEASE-FIRE ORDER

House Passes GOP Trade Act Extension Bill

President's Powers Curbed By Measure

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—Republicans rammed through the House today a bill extending the Reciprocal Trade Act for just one year and putting congressional checkreins on the President's tariff-making powers.

In the slam-bang election year renewal of the ancient tariff feud between the major parties, the Democrats lost this time, 234 to 149. They tried in vain to kill the GOP measure and substitute their own to prolong the trade act "as is" for three years. The substitute was beaten 211 to 169.

On the final vote 218 Republicans were joined by 16 Democrats in support of the GOP bill; opposed were 142 Democrats, five Republicans and two American Labor Party members.

The legislation now goes to the Senate. How it will fare there is uncertain, but another word battle is sure.

Marshall Overridden

In its action the House brushed aside a statement from Secretary of State Marshall that the GOP measure would shake the foundation of America's foreign economic policy. Marshall called it worse than no bill at all.

House Republican Leader Halleck, of Indiana, called Marshall's statement "reckless" adding: "I for one resent it."

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the Ways and Means Committee, challenged Marshall's qualifications to speak on tariffs.

Knutson also said that under Marshall's actions as Army Chief of Staff "the war cost us three times as much as it should have."

In the blistering debate, Democrats accused the Republicans of trying to sabotage the trade act and return to the "isolationism" and "high tariff" period under the Smoot-Hawley law of the 1930s.

Halleck called the Republican measure "a happy compromise that will carry forward the idea of true reciprocity."

Before the vote on final passage, the House approved, 196 to 166, a rule providing that no amendments could be offered.

Act Expires June 12

President Truman has asked Congress to continue the Reciprocal Trade act for three years "as is." That is what the Democrats fought for.

The trade act, first passed in 1934, expires June 12 unless Congress renews it. It permits the State Department, under direction of the President, to cut American tariffs in trade pacts with other nations that agree to lower their own trade barriers.

The President now puts these pacts into force without reference to Congress.

Under the GOP bill the Federal Tariff Commission would hereafter tell the President how high or how low a duty could be adjusted, in its opinion, without injury to the domestic economy or national security. If the President exceeded these bounds, Congress would have 60 days in which to exercise a veto. The treaty would become effective if Congress did not veto it.

Md. House Approves Lane's Pay Hike Bill

Also Okays Probe Of Welfare System

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 26. (AP)—The Maryland House declined tonight to tamper with Gov. Lane's $2,101,654 to increase the pay of state workers and passed it.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

The pay boost bill passed without comment after the delegates beat back attempts to amend the bill so as to get extra money for mental hospital workers and state policemen.

When those were defeated, the opponents made no further fight.

The House, settling down late at night to get rid of its heavy load of bills, also sent to the Senate Gov. Lane's resolution which would create a commission to inquire into the Free State's public welfare system.

The salary boost bill was offered by Lane to allow a flat 10 per cent for workers who had not had raises since September, 1946. Hospital attendants were raised last year.

The attempts to include hospital workers and state police were defeated on a voice vote.

Early Adjournment Seen

After the salary debate in the House, and wrangles over investigation of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and a Calvert County slot machine bill in the Senate, both houses late tonight got down to the business of passing bills.

Adjournment of the special session by late tomorrow night or early Friday seemed assured.

Although there was opposition, the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill by Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) for a referendum on slot machines in Calvert County.

Also over opposition, the Senate approved a measure by Sen. Dulin (D-Anne Arundel) to allow bingo games by charitable organizations in Anne Arundel County.

The Senate also passed these other measures:

To allow income taxpayers with salaries up to $10,000 a year to use short form returns.

To appropriate $525,000 to fix up the Statehouse and Court of Appeals buildings and give more room for legislative offices.

To ban dog racing in Anne Arundel County.

To appropriate $560,000 for armories in various parts of the state.

Road Fund Transfer Approved

Among the House bills sent to the Senate were:

To allow transfer of $2,000,000 a year from road commission construction funds, to maintenance funds.

Delegate Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd), who in the afternoon had successfully delayed action on the salary raise bill, asked that hospital employes be given pay increases as a matter of fairness and as a means of halting the heavy turnover in hospital personnel.

He was joined by Delegate Buffington (D-Balto 3rd), who asked the same thing for state policemen.

Both lost out.

By a 100 to 10 vote, the House refused to get embroiled in any sales tax battles in the special session.

The vote was on a futile motion by Delegate Carrick (D-Balto 6th) to get out of committee his bill which would require the comptroller to cease collecting the sales tax after the total reaches $36,800,000.

"Wife For Sale" Ad, Story Bring 14 Quick Offers

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., May 26—(AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor, comely 28-year-old divorcee, today got 14 quick offers from prospective husbands willing to pay her $10,000 and support her and her two children.

She announced she would interview the bidders at the Long Island night club where she works as a hatcheck girl, and make her decision within a week.

The offers came within a few hours after her "wife for sale" story appeared in the Hempstead Newsday. The paper published the story after she had submitted this ad for the situation wanted, female" column:

"Wife for sale. Divorcee, blonde, attractive wants man to marry and support her and two children. Must be willing and able to make immediate $10,000 cash settlement."

Talks On Danube Proposed By U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 26 — (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall revealed today the beginning of a new effort to open Europe's important Danube River to unhindered navigation.

The United States hope is to break down a major barrier to the free flow of trade between Eastern and Western Europe by getting Russia and its satellite countries to agree to unrestricted Danube shipping.

Marshall announced at a news conference that the United States had proposed a Danube conference of the Big Four powers plus Central and Eastern European nations. It would be held in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, beginning July 30.

The meeting, if the Russian bloc countries accept, could provide a test of the Soviet government's expressed desire for better relations with the United States.

In another statement, Marshall reported that Big Four negotiations on an Austrian independence treaty in London have been temporarily suspended. He blamed Soviet "delaying tactics" for this latest failure of the big powers to agree on a pact, which would end the occupation of Austria and restore its freedom.

American officials said the question of free navigation of the Danube is one of the basic issues in European recovery. The river is the continent's great traffic channel.

Rail Nationalization Not Being Considered

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—Nationalization of the railroads is not being considered, the White House said today.

Charles G. Ross, President Truman's press secretary, answered a question about it in one word:

"No."

The subject of nationalization was brought up by reporters as a result of a union demand that the government "begin preparations" to buy the railroads.

'Voice' Scripts Arouse Senate; Inquiry Looms

Cries Of "Drivel" And "Libel" Arise

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP) — Angry senators shouted threats of drastic action today in response to information that the Voice of America has been telling the world such things as: "New England was founded by hypocrisy and Texas by sin."

The talk ranged from demands for an investigation, through harsh words for the State Department, to suggestions that the "Voice" might be stilled entirely.

But State Department officials were quick to protest that it wasn't their fault—that Congress itself required the Department to farm out the program, and that there wasn't money for close supervision.

And the National Broadcasting Company, which did the job under contract, said it had fired the writer who wrote the scripts that set off the fireworks and "relieved" the supervisor who let the shows go out.

An official at the State Department said the Department did not have personnel to check each script before broadcast. About all it can manage, he said, is general directives on the nature and timing of shows, and an occasional spot check of the texts after broadcast to see how the job is going.

Reaction Is Terrific

The reaction in the Senate was terrific.

"This stuff!" deplored New England Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass).

"Drivel, nonsense and downright falsehoods!" shouted western Sen. Hatch (D-NM).

Sen. Connally (D-Tex) said the authors were "saboteurs" who had "libelled and slandered" Texas.

The outburst was touched off by the reading of excerpts from scripts broadcast last December and January to South and Central America.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), who read the excerpts, said he will introduce a resolution tomorrow for an investigation to "get all of the facts.

Congress has voted to appropriate $27,000,000 for the State Department to use for the Voice of America broadcasts.

Capehart said the series from which he read purported to deal with life and history in the 48 states as seen through the eyes of two travelers.

Langer Would Bar Draft Segregation

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The fate of the draft bill was thrown more than ever into doubt today when Sen. Langer (R-N.D.) announced he would try to attach a civil rights program to it.

Langer said his proposed amendment would, among other things, bar all forms of racial discrimination under selective service.

Sen. Wherry (R-Neb.), acting Republican leader of the Senate, told reporters such a move would inevitably mean a filibuster by southerners.

The defense program faced difficulties on another front, too. In the House, about 60 members want to speak against the House draft bill even before it clears the Rules Committee and reaches the floor.

Langer said that Congress is about to adjourn without acting on any phase of President Truman's civil rights program calling for anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-Jim Crow and other provisions.

Consequently, he said in a statement, "I shall introduce an amendment to bar all forms of racial segregation under any draft and I shall fight vigorously for its adoption.

"These amendments will include protection for men in uniform against mob attacks and lynching, against segregation in interstate travel, and against discrimination of any kind in public places and facilities.

"One amendment will require fair employment practices of any company or individual selling goods or services to the government under any selective service or UMT (universal military training) program."

Meanwhile, the House approved and sent to the White House legislation making the Civil Air Patrol a permanent civilian auxiliary of the Air Force.

Prague Official Says That Benes Not "Gravely Ill"

Report Released In London Denied

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 26 (AP)—An official report said that President Eduard Benes walked with Mrs. Benes tonight in the garden of his country home and appeared to be in a happy mood.

Eduard Benes

An official Czechoslovak diplomatic source said in London earlier today that Benes is "gravely ill" and is not expected to recover.

An information ministry spokesman said the London report was false.

The spokesman, Arnost Limbersky, said he had "official information" that Benes' condition was no worse than it has been at any time since he suffered a stroke last autumn.

"Our information is," Limbersky said, "that President and Mrs. Benes walked together in their garden at 7 p. m. and retired early. The President was in a good mood. He saw a personal friend during the evening."

However, one usually well-informed source who cannot be identified by name said that Benes' doctors were worried about his condition and were taking every precaution.

The source said Benes' condition prevented him from participating in the May 9 ceremonies when the new "people's republic" constitution was finally adopted.

The President's activities were described by the source as being confined to signing only the most important papers, and that he was guarded against excitement or taking any trips. Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, on his rather frequent visits to Benes, avoids discussions of politics, the source said.

London Developments

LONDON, May 26 (AP)—A Czech diplomat in close touch with the Prague government reported today that 64-year-old President Eduard Benes is gravely ill and is "not expected to recover."

The names of two men as likely successor in event of his death were immediately mentioned by persons in close touch with the Czechoslovak situation. These were Klement Gottwald, Communist premier, and Zdenek Fierlinger, pro-Communist Social Democrat.

The report of Benes' serious illness coincided with two Czechoslovak political developments.

Thirty-six exiled members of the Czechoslovak Parliament have been summoned into a rump session in London this Friday.

The 8,000,000 Czechoslovak voters are to elect a new parliament Sunday.

Planes Are Ready To Fly Americans From Near East

Transports Are Held On Island Of Cyprus

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The United States made ready today to evacuate by air its citizens in the Middle East "in case of need."

"In view of unsettled conditions" in the area, the State Department announced, about two dozen Air Force C-47 transport planes have been sent to Cyprus from Europe.

They are being held at the Nicosia airport on Cyprus "should they be required to evacuate American citizens in case of need," the announcement said.

12,000 In Middle East

The department did not estimate how many Americans might be removed if unsettled conditions centering around the Jewish-Arab fighting in Palestine became worse. There are about 12,000 Americans in the Middle East. Some of them could be removed by ship.

Cyprus, where the planes have been assembled, is a British-controlled island in the Eastern Mediterranean. The planes can be sent anywhere in the Middle East area where trouble might break out, State Department officials said.

There were other developments on the Palestine situation today:

1. Charles G. Ross, President Truman's press secretary, told reporters the lifting of embargo on arms shipments to the Middle East is not "imminent."

Arms-For-Israel Bill Offered

2. Rep. Javits (R-NY) introduced in the House a bill for a $100,000,000 military aid program for the new Jewish state of Israel.

Ross also said no representations have been received from the British government as to whether this country should make a loan to Israel. This was in response to questions about London reports that the British Foreign Office was displeased by news that such a loan might be made.

Maj. Gen. John Hillbring, who accepted an appointment April 28 as special assistant to Secretary of State Marshall in charge of Palestine affairs, will be unable to accept the post due to ill health. Announcing this today, the State Department said Hilldring is very ill in Arizona.

Hard Coal Contract Talks Will Open Today

PHILADELPHIA, May 26. (AP)—John L. Lewis meets with anthracite operators tomorrow to discuss a new contract for 80,000 hard coal miners.

It will mark the first contract talks in two years between United Mine Workers' officials and the hard coal operators.

He served notice on Ralph E. Taggart, chairman of the anthracite operators committee, that he wants a new contract for his anthracite diggers by June 10.

He gave the operators 60 days notice, apparently complying with a provision of the Taft-Hartley Act. Lewis has given similar notice to soft coal operators, whose contract expires June 30.

The hard coal miners have been working since 1946 under a pact with no termination date, but with a provision that either party may give 30 days notice of termination whenever it desires.

Industrial Goods Will Be Shipped To Finland

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The United States today cut a hole in its barrier against industrial goods shipments to Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe to let production equipment get through to Finland.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer announced he had approved the granting of licenses to ship the Finns $3,890,000 worth of power generator parts, machine tools, steel products and other materials.

U. N. Council Requested To Make New Proposal

Arabs Claim Victory Near In Holy City

CAIRO, May 26 (AP) — The battle of Jerusalem raged on today and the Security Council's deadline for a cease-fire in the Holy Land passed almost unnoticed.

As United Nations truce efforts collapsed at Lake Success, Arab Legion armor and dynamiters pressed closer on a 200-yard square of Jewish-held rubble in Jerusalem's old city.

The British-controlled Near East radio said the defenders had been split and that an Arab ultimatum had been given to Jewish Irgunists entrenched in the great Hulva Synagogue to surrender or die by being blown up.

An Associated Press dispatch from inside the old city said Arab officers expected a collapse of the Jewish defense "momentarily."

Jerusalem, Tel Aviv Bombed

The Near East radio station said Jewish residents of the old Jerusalem were under almost continuous shellfire. It said modern Jewish-held buildings in modern Jerusalem had been bombed by Arab planes for the first time.

The broadcast said the biggest Egyptian bombers yet, with fighter escort, had bombarded Jewish Tel Aviv.

Reports from Jerusalem said a second hard fight was raging west of the city along the road to Tel Aviv.

An Arab Legion communique said 800 Jewish casualties had been inflicted in a battle at Latrun, and that Jews had suffered a "crushing defeat" there, at Beit Jiz and Khulda in the fight for control of the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv Road.

Latrun "Exterminated"

The Arab Legion had announced the capture of Latrun yesterday, and said it had "completely exterminated" a Jewish force of 600 in a 24-hour battle. Today, Jewish sources in Jerusalem said the fighting was raging where the valley widens between the Trappist Monastery and the former British internment camp. Both sides are committing heavier forces, this Jewish source said.

Daniel De Luce, Associated Press correspondent, wrote of the battle in Jerusalem:

"What Jerusalem has been undergoing for eight days is like the so-called Chinese death of 1,000 cuts—many small slashings in many quarters but nothing decisive. Over the battle hangs the question of now long 90,000 Jews, cut off from outside food supplies and normal water sources, can hold out."

Israel Turns Down Arab States' Terms

LAKE SUCCESS, May 26 (AP)—The Arabs rejected tonight a United Nations cease-fire order for Palestine.

But they asked the Security Council to state promptly whether it could offer any acceptable terms for a political settlement that might stop their war with Jewish Israel in the Holy Land.

The result tonight of long conferences here and at Arab League headquarters in Amman, Trans-Jordan, is that the fighting goes on and the Jews have declared unacceptable the conditions laid down by Arabs for a truce.

Israel replied—through the Jewish Agency for Palestine—that the Arab answers were a flagrant rejection of the council's appeal.

The Jews said if the Arab States want peace with Israel they can have it and if they want war they can have it.

Arab Terms Disclosed

After hearing the Arabs and Jews, Warren R. Austin, United States, said the situation is so serious that it needs the careful consideration of the American government.

The council adjourned at 6:12 p. m. (E.S.T.) until 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The Arab countries individually said they could not stop fighting as long as Israel claimed existence as a nation.

They demanded also that the United Nations ban imports of arms to the Jews and limit Jewish immigration in Palestine.

The individual replies were considerably sharper than the note to the Security Council from the Arab League chiefs meeting in Amman. The league did not specifically accept or reject the cease-fire order.

Dr. Naji Al Asil, of Iraq, read the Arab League reply to the council. He said the Arabs have no guarantee that the cease fire would stop Zionist violence.

Then the league said it is ready "to study within a time limit of 48 hours any suggestion which the Security Council may make" for a solution.

Speculation Is Aroused

This aroused considerable speculation as to just when such a 48 hour period would expire. Dr. Al-Asil said it meant 48 hours from the time he made his statement, but other Arabs indicated it might mean 48 hours from the time the council took a decision.

As the league's answer was disclosed, Arab delegates insisted that these conditions must be met before they would accept a truce:

1. Abolition of the Jewish state.
2. Stoppage of arms for Haganah, the Jewish army.
3. Limitation of Jewish immigration to Palestine.

The council waited five hours after its noonday cease-fire deadline before getting to the Palestine case.

The league reply was received in dramatic circumstances.

It arrived in code at the Iraqi Consulate General in New York at 10 a. m. (E.S.T.) It was long and a special group was assigned to decode it by the Iraqi code. This involved translating it from Anglicized (Telegraphic) Arabic into English, and then preparing it for the council delegates. It finally was put before the council about 5 p. m. (E.S.T.)

Impasse On Ruhr Future Is Broken

LONDON, Thursday, May 27 (AP)—A six-country conference broke a major deadlock late last night on the political and economic future of Western Germany.

The conference agreed upon broad powers for an international control board over the iron ore, coal and coke of the Ruhr Valley, industrial heart of Western Europe.

Responsible diplomatic officials said the agreement was hammered out in yesterday's sessions. It broke an impasse which had threatened failure of the talks among the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

They said the French delegation, which last weekend objected to the plan for reshaping Western Germany's future, had given its full agreement to the Ruhr international authority for control over allocations of the valley's minerals.

These sources said the United States delegation had made some concessions toward a French demand that international control be given additional powers to safeguard against the possibility that any expanded German production would be used as a war potential.

Marshall Turns Down "Churchman" Award

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today he will not accept the annual award of the Churchman magazine because the publication engaged in world political discussions of a very marked character.

Marshall explained why he was turning down the award after Dr. Guy Emery Shipler, editor of the unofficial Episcopal magazine, had made public correspondence with one of Marshall's assistants.

A letter from Marshall S. Carter to Dr. Shipler noted the Churchman's "editorials extend far into the realm of politics and international affairs," and that "the Secretary does not feel he can accept the award."

Widow "Over 90" Is Wed To Man, 37; Gets No Kiss

MOIRA, N. Y., May 26 (AP)—A widow who says she is "over 90" was married today to a 37-year-old farm hand at a church wedding that drew about 3,000 spectators.

Clarence McGee slipped a 10-cent-store ring on Mrs. Eliza Murray's finger and confessed he couldn't kiss the bride "with all o'these people looking on."

It was a special legal holiday in the neighboring hamlet of Brushton, close to the Canadian border, where the two live.

McGee's buggy had a broken wheel, so a friend drove them to church in an automobile. They then sat outside for 12 minutes waiting for the district superintendent of the Methodist church to sanction the marriage. There had been "some complaints," Rev. Lewis McConnell, pastor, reported.

The bride wore a blue and white print dress and a white orchid. She had plastic flowers in her hair. The groom sported a white carnation in the lapel of his grey tweed jacket.

Mrs McGee has borne seven children, two of whom died in a traffic accident which cost her a leg. She has an artificial left leg.

Her first husband, Charlie, died last February at the age of 98.

She gave her age as 80 for the marriage license record, but her 68-year-old son James agrees with her own private estimate, that she must be more than 90.

"Like every other woman, she doesn't like to tell her age," he observed.

The couple will live at the bride's home. They may take a honeymoon trip later.

Chrysler Negotiations Recessed Until Today

DETROIT, May 26 (AP)—Chrysler Corporation and the CIO United Auto Workers, seeking an end to the 15-day strike at Chrysler's auto plants, tonight recessed their negotiations until 12 noon, EST, tomorrow.

Negotiators for the auto company and the UAW conferred for nearly nine hours today and ended their session shortly before 11 p. m. (EST) with a terse "no comment" from both sides.

The UAW, prior to going into a huddle with the Chrysler officials today, disclosed that it had again cut its wage demands on Chrysler to an hourly boost of 17 cents.

Housewife Only Stutters After $25,000 Surprise

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—A Chicago housewife took the stunning, but thrilling, jolt of a $24,900 surprise today—and only stuttered a little.

Then a few minutes later she grew weak in the knees, got the trembles and had to sit down and fan herself with the only thing at hand a $25,000 check.

She is Mrs. Florence Leadinghouse, 50, grey-haired mother of two grown sons whose only previous contest winnings totaled $2 for a cookie recipe.

She was informed she had won a $100 runnerup prize in a soap company contest by selecting Baltimore as the mystery city and writing the best 25-word essay.

The contest was called the "Hidden Treasure Contest." The object was to determine in which city the imaginary "hidden treasure" was buried. Various clues were given for a number of weeks over all the soap firm's radio shows.

Near the end of the contest, a clue was given which accentuated the words "ball," "tea" and "more."

Dressed in a blue print silk dress, blue straw hat and blue cloth coat, she came downtown to pick up her check.

Then before a studio audience of more than 100 in the Sherman Hotel, she was handed the check—folded and held by the announcer so it could be read only line by line. She had to get her glasses out of her purse to read it.

When she came to the amount she cried, "Ow-ow-ow—tw-twenty-five thousand dollars."

Asked how it felt to come into a small fortune, she blinked, looked dazed and said, "I don't know—I'll have to think."

House Passes GOP Trade Act Extension Bill

President's Powers Curbed By Measure

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—Republicans rammed through the House today a bill extending the Reciprocal Trade Act for just one year and putting congressional checkreins on the President's tariff-making powers.

In the slam-bang election year renewal of the ancient tariff feud between the major parties, the Democrats lost this time, 234 to 149. They tried in vain to kill the GOP measure and substitute their own to prolong the trade act "as is" for three years. The substitute was beaten 211 to 169.

On the final vote 218 Republicans were joined by 16 Democrats in support of the GOP bill; opposed were 142 Democrats, five Republicans and two American Labor Party members.

The legislation now goes to the Senate. How it will fare there is uncertain, but another word battle is sure.

Marshall Overridden

In its action the House brushed aside a statement from Secretary of State Marshall that the GOP measure would shake the foundation of America's foreign economic policy. Marshall called it worse than no bill at all.

House Republican Leader Halleck, of Indiana, called Marshall's statement "reckless" adding: "I for one resent it."

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the Ways and Means Committee, challenged Marshall's qualifications to speak on tariffs.

Knutson also said that under Marshall's actions as Army Chief of Staff "the war cost us three times as much as it should have."

In the blistering debate, Democrats accused the Republicans of trying to sabotage the trade act and return to the "isolationism" and "high tariff" period under the Smoot-Hawley law of the 1930s.

Halleck called the Republican measure "a happy compromise that will carry forward the idea of true reciprocity."

Before the vote on final passage, the House approved, 196 to 166, a rule providing that no amendments could be offered.

Act Expires June 12

President Truman has asked Congress to continue the Reciprocal Trade act for three years "as is." That is what the Democrats fought for.

The trade act, first passed in 1934, expires June 12 unless Congress renews it. It permits the State Department, under direction of the President, to cut American tariffs in trade pacts with other nations that agree to lower their own trade barriers.

The President now puts these pacts into force without reference to Congress.

Under the GOP bill the Federal Tariff Commission would hereafter tell the President how high or how low a duty could be adjusted, in its opinion, without injury to the domestic economy or national security. If the President exceeded these bounds, Congress would have 60 days in which to exercise a veto. The treaty would become effective if Congress did not veto it.

Also Okays Probe Of Welfare System

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 26. (AP)—The Maryland House declined tonight to tamper with Gov. Lane's $2,101,654 to increase the pay of state workers and passed it.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

The pay boost bill passed without comment after the delegates beat back attempts to amend the bill so as to get extra money for mental hospital workers and state policemen.

When those were defeated, the opponents made no further fight.

The House, settling down late at night to get rid of its heavy load of bills, also sent to the Senate Gov. Lane's resolution which would create a commission to inquire into the Free State's public welfare system.

The salary boost bill was offered by Lane to allow a flat 10 per cent for workers who had not had raises since September, 1946. Hospital attendants were raised last year.

The attempts to include hospital workers and state police were defeated on a voice vote.

Early Adjournment Seen

After the salary debate in the House, and wrangles over investigation of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and a Calvert County slot machine bill in the Senate, both houses late tonight got down to the business of passing bills.

Adjournment of the special session by late tomorrow night or early Friday seemed assured.

Although there was opposition, the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill by Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) for a referendum on slot machines in Calvert County.

Also over opposition, the Senate approved a measure by Sen. Dulin (D-Anne Arundel) to allow bingo games by charitable organizations in Anne Arundel County.

The Senate also passed these other measures:

To allow income taxpayers with salaries up to $10,000 a year to use short form returns.

To appropriate $525,000 to fix up the Statehouse and Court of Appeals buildings and give more room for legislative offices.

To ban dog racing in Anne Arundel County.

To appropriate $560,000 for armories in various parts of the state.

Road Fund Transfer Approved

Among the House bills sent to the Senate were:

To allow transfer of $2,000,000 a year from road commission construction funds, to maintenance funds.

Delegate Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd), who in the afternoon had successfully delayed action on the salary raise bill, asked that hospital employes be given pay increases as a matter of fairness and as a means of halting the heavy turnover in hospital personnel.

He was joined by Delegate Buffington (D-Balto 3rd), who asked the same thing for state policemen.

Both lost out.

By a 100 to 10 vote, the House refused to get embroiled in any sales tax battles in the special session.

The vote was on a futile motion by Delegate Carrick (D-Balto 6th) to get out of committee his bill which would require the comptroller to cease collecting the sales tax after the total reaches $36,800,000.

"Wife For Sale" Ad, Story Bring 14 Quick Offers

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., May 26—(AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor, comely 28-year-old divorcee, today got 14 quick offers from prospective husbands willing to pay her $10,000 and support her and her two children.

She announced she would interview the bidders at the Long Island night club where she works as a hatcheck girl, and make her decision within a week.

The offers came within a few hours after her "wife for sale" story appeared in the Hempstead Newsday. The paper published the story after she had submitted this ad for the situation wanted, female" column:

"Wife for sale. Divorcee, blonde, attractive wants man to marry and support her and two children. Must be willing and able to make immediate $10,000 cash settlement."

Talks On Danube Proposed By U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 26 — (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall revealed today the beginning of a new effort to open Europe's important Danube River to unhindered navigation.

The United States hope is to break down a major barrier to the free flow of trade between Eastern and Western Europe by getting Russia and its satellite countries to agree to unrestricted Danube shipping.

Marshall announced at a news conference that the United States had proposed a Danube conference of the Big Four powers plus Central and Eastern European nations. It would be held in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, beginning July 30.

The meeting, if the Russian bloc countries accept, could provide a test of the Soviet government's expressed desire for better relations with the United States.

In another statement, Marshall reported that Big Four negotiations on an Austrian independence treaty in London have been temporarily suspended. He blamed Soviet "delaying tactics" for this latest failure of the big powers to agree on a pact, which would end the occupation of Austria and restore its freedom.

American officials said the question of free navigation of the Danube is one of the basic issues in European recovery. The river is the continent's great traffic channel.

'Voice' Scripts Arouse Senate; Inquiry Looms

Cries Of "Drivel" And "Libel" Arise

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP) — Angry senators shouted threats of drastic action today in response to information that the Voice of America has been telling the world such things as: "New England was founded by hypocrisy and Texas by sin."

The talk ranged from demands for an investigation, through harsh words for the State Department, to suggestions that the "Voice" might be stilled entirely.

But State Department officials were quick to protest that it wasn't their fault—that Congress itself required the Department to farm out the program, and that there wasn't money for close supervision.

And the National Broadcasting Company, which did the job under contract, said it had fired the writer who wrote the scripts that set off the fireworks and "relieved" the supervisor who let the shows go out.

An official at the State Department said the Department did not have personnel to check each script before broadcast. About all it can manage, he said, is general directives on the nature and timing of shows, and an occasional spot check of the texts after broadcast to see how the job is going.

Reaction Is Terrific

The reaction in the Senate was terrific.

"This stuff!" deplored New England Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass).

"Drivel, nonsense and downright falsehoods!" shouted western Sen. Hatch (D-NM).

Sen. Connally (D-Tex) said the authors were "saboteurs" who had "libelled and slandered" Texas.

The outburst was touched off by the reading of excerpts from scripts broadcast last December and January to South and Central America.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), who read the excerpts, said he will introduce a resolution tomorrow for an investigation to "get all of the facts.

Congress has voted to appropriate $27,000,000 for the State Department to use for the Voice of America broadcasts.

Capehart said the series from which he read purported to deal with life and history in the 48 states as seen through the eyes of two travelers.

Langer Would Bar Draft Segregation

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The fate of the draft bill was thrown more than ever into doubt today when Sen. Langer (R-N.D.) announced he would try to attach a civil rights program to it.

Langer said his proposed amendment would, among other things, bar all forms of racial discrimination under selective service.

Sen. Wherry (R-Neb.), acting Republican leader of the Senate, told reporters such a move would inevitably mean a filibuster by southerners.

The defense program faced difficulties on another front, too. In the House, about 60 members want to speak against the House draft bill even before it clears the Rules Committee and reaches the floor.

Langer said that Congress is about to adjourn without acting on any phase of President Truman's civil rights program calling for anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-Jim Crow and other provisions.

Consequently, he said in a statement, "I shall introduce an amendment to bar all forms of racial segregation under any draft and I shall fight vigorously for its adoption.

"These amendments will include protection for men in uniform against mob attacks and lynching, against segregation in interstate travel, and against discrimination of any kind in public places and facilities.

"One amendment will require fair employment practices of any company or individual selling goods or services to the government under any selective service or UMT (universal military training) program."

Meanwhile, the House approved and sent to the White House legislation making the Civil Air Patrol a permanent civilian auxiliary of the Air Force.

Chrysler Negotiations Recessed Until Today

DETROIT, May 26 (AP)—Chrysler Corporation and the CIO United Auto Workers, seeking an end to the 15-day strike at Chrysler's auto plants, tonight recessed their negotiations until 12 noon, EST, tomorrow.

Negotiators for the auto company and the UAW conferred for nearly nine hours today and ended their session shortly before 11 p. m. (EST) with a terse "no comment" from both sides.

The UAW, prior to going into a huddle with the Chrysler officials today, disclosed that it had again cut its wage demands on Chrysler to an hourly boost of 17 cents.

Prague Official Says That Benes Not "Gravely Ill"

Report Released In London Denied

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 26 (AP)—An official report said that President Eduard Benes walked with Mrs. Benes tonight in the garden of his country home and appeared to be in a happy mood.

Eduard Benes

An official Czechoslovak diplomatic source said in London earlier today that Benes is "gravely ill" and is not expected to recover.

An information ministry spokesman said the London report was false.

The spokesman, Arnost Limbersky, said he had "official information" that Benes' condition was no worse than it has been at any time since he suffered a stroke last autumn.

"Our information is," Limbersky said, "that President and Mrs. Benes walked together in their garden at 7 p. m. and retired early. The President was in a good mood. He saw a personal friend during the evening."

However, one usually well-informed source who cannot be identified by name said that Benes' doctors were worried about his condition and were taking every precaution.

The source said Benes' condition prevented him from participating in the May 9 ceremonies when the new "people's republic" constitution was finally adopted.

The President's activities were described by the source as being confined to signing only the most important papers, and that he was guarded against excitement or taking any trips. Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, on his rather frequent visits to Benes, avoids discussions of politics, the source said.

London Developments

LONDON, May 26 (AP)—A Czech diplomat in close touch with the Prague government reported today that 64-year-old President Eduard Benes is gravely ill and is "not expected to recover."

The names of two men as likely successor in event of his death were immediately mentioned by persons in close touch with the Czechoslovak situation. These were Klement Gottwald, Communist premier, and Zdenek Fierlinger, pro-Communist Social Democrat.

The report of Benes' serious illness coincided with two Czechoslovak political developments.

Thirty-six exiled members of the Czechoslovak Parliament have been summoned into a rump session in London this Friday.

The 8,000,000 Czechoslovak voters are to elect a new parliament Sunday.

Planes Are Ready To Fly Americans From Near East

Transports Are Held On Island Of Cyprus

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The United States made ready today to evacuate by air its citizens in the Middle East "in case of need."

"In view of unsettled conditions" in the area, the State Department announced, about two dozen Air Force C-47 transport planes have been sent to Cyprus from Europe.

They are being held at the Nicosia airport on Cyprus "should they be required to evacuate American citizens in case of need," the announcement said.

12,000 In Middle East

The department did not estimate how many Americans might be removed if unsettled conditions centering around the Jewish-Arab fighting in Palestine became worse. There are about 12,000 Americans in the Middle East. Some of them could be removed by ship.

Cyprus, where the planes have been assembled, is a British-controlled island in the Eastern Mediterranean. The planes can be sent anywhere in the Middle East area where trouble might break out, State Department officials said.

There were other developments on the Palestine situation today:

1. Charles G. Ross, President Truman's press secretary, told reporters the lifting of embargo on arms shipments to the Middle East is not "imminent."

Arms-For-Israel Bill Offered

2. Rep. Javits (R-NY) introduced in the House a bill for a $100,000,000 military aid program for the new Jewish state of Israel.

Ross also said no representations have been received from the British government as to whether this country should make a loan to Israel. This was in response to questions about London reports that the British Foreign Office was displeased by news that such a loan might be made.

Maj. Gen. John Hillbring, who accepted an appointment April 28 as special assistant to Secretary of State Marshall in charge of Palestine affairs, will be unable to accept the post due to ill health. Announcing this today, the State Department said Hillbring is very ill in Arizona.

Hard Coal Contract Talks Will Open Today

PHILADELPHIA, May 26. (AP)—John L. Lewis meets with anthracite operators tomorrow to discuss a new contract for 80,000 hard coal miners.

It will mark the first contract talks in two years between United Mine Workers' officials and the hard coal operators.

He served notice on Ralph E. Taggart, chairman of the anthracite operators committee, that he wants a new contract for his anthracite diggers by June 10.

He gave the operators 60 days notice, apparently complying with a provision of the Taft-Hartley Act. Lewis has given similar notice to soft coal operators, whose contract expires June 30.

The hard coal miners have been working since 1946 under a pact with no termination date, but with a provision that either party may give 30 days notice of termination whenever it desires.

Industrial Goods Will Be Shipped To Finland

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The United States today cut a hole in its barrier against industrial goods shipments to Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe to let production equipment get through to Finland.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer announced he had approved the granting of licenses to ship the Finns $3,890,000 worth of power generator parts, machine tools, steel products and other materials.

U. N. Council Requested To Make New Proposal

Arabs Claim Victory Near In Holy City

CAIRO, May 26 (AP) — The battle of Jerusalem raged on today and the Security Council's deadline for a cease-fire in the Holy Land passed almost unnoticed.

As United Nations truce efforts collapsed at Lake Success, Arab Legion armor and dynamiters pressed closer on a 200-yard square of Jewish-held rubble in Jerusalem's Old city.

The British-controlled Near East radio said the defenders had been split and that an Arab ultimatum had been given to Jewish Irgunists entrenched in the great Hulva Synagogue to surrender or die by being blown up.

An Associated Press dispatch from inside the old city said Arab officers expected a collapse of the Jewish defense "momentarily."

Jerusalem, Tel Aviv Bombed

The Near East radio station said Jewish residents of the old Jerusalem were under almost continuous shellfire. It said modern Jewish-held buildings in modern Jerusalem had been bombed by Arab planes for the first time.

The broadcast said the biggest Egyptian bombers yet, with fighter escort, had bombarded Jewish Tel Aviv.

Reports from Jerusalem said a second hard fight was raging west of the city along the road to Tel Aviv.

An Arab Legion communique said 800 Jewish casualties had been inflicted in a battle at Latrun, and that Jews had suffered a "crushing defeat" there, at Beit Jiz and Khulda in the fight for control of the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv Road.

Latrun "Exterminated"

The Arab Legion had announced the capture of Latrun yesterday, and said it had "completely exterminated" a Jewish force of 600 in a 24-hour battle. Today, Jewish sources in Jerusalem said the fighting was raging where the valley widens between the Trappist Monastery and the former British internment camp. Both sides are committing heavier forces, this Jewish source said.

Daniel De Luce, Associated Press correspondent, wrote of the battle in Jerusalem:

"What Jerusalem has been undergoing for eight days is like the so-called Chinese death of 1,000 cuts—many small slashings in many quarters but nothing decisive. Over the battle hangs the question of how long 90,000 Jews, cut off from outside food supplies and normal water sources, can hold out."

Israel Turns Down Arab States' Terms

LAKE SUCCESS, May 26 (AP)—The Arabs rejected tonight a United Nations cease-fire order for Palestine.

But they asked the Security Council to state promptly whether it could offer any acceptable terms for a political settlement that might stop their war with Jewish Israel in the Holy Land.

The result tonight of long conferences here and at Arab League headquarters in Amman, Trans-Jordan, is that the fighting goes on and the Jews have declared unacceptable the conditions laid down by Arabs for a truce.

Israel replied—through the Jewish Agency for Palestine—that the Arab answers were a flagrant rejection of the council's appeal.

The Jews said if the Arab States want peace with Israel they can have it and if they want war they can have it.

Arab Terms Disclosed

After hearing the Arabs and Jews, Warren R. Austin, United States, said the situation is so serious that it needs the careful consideration of the American government.

The council adjourned at 6:12 p. m. (E.S.T.) until 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The Arab countries individually said they could not stop fighting as long as Israel claimed existence as a nation.

They demanded also that the United Nations ban imports of arms to the Jews and limit Jewish immigration in Palestine.

The individual replies were considerably sharper than the note to the Security Council from the Arab League chiefs meeting in Amman. The league did not specifically accept or reject the cease-fire order.

Dr. Naji Al Asil, of Iraq, read the Arab League reply to the council. He said the Arabs have no guarantee that the cease fire would stop Zionist violence.

Then the league said it is ready "to study within a time limit of 48 hours any suggestion which the Security Council may make" for a solution.

Speculation Is Aroused

This aroused considerable speculation as to just when such a 48 hour period would expire. Dr. Al-Asil said it meant 48 hours from the time he made his statement, but other Arabs indicated it might mean 48 hours from the time the council took a decision.

As the league's answer was disclosed, Arab delegates insisted that these conditions must be met before they would accept a truce:

1. Abolition of the Jewish state.
2. Stoppage of arms for Haganah, the Jewish army.
3. Limitation of Jewish immigration to Palestine.

The council waited five hours after its noonday cease-fire deadline before getting to the Palestine case.

The league reply was received in dramatic circumstances.

It arrived in code at the Iraqi Consulate General in New York at 10 a. m. (E.S.T.) It was long and a special group was assigned to decode it by the Iraqi code. This involved translating it from Anglicized (Telegraphic) Arabic into English, and then preparing it for the council delegates. It finally was put before the council about 5 p. m. (E.S.T.)

Impasse On Ruhr Future Is Broken

LONDON, Thursday, May 27 (AP)—A six-country conference broke a major deadlock late last night on the political and economic future of Western Germany.

The conference agreed upon broad powers for an international control board over the iron ore, coal and coke of the Ruhr Valley, industrial heart of Western Europe.

Responsible diplomatic officials said the agreement was hammered out in yesterday's sessions. It broke an impasse which had threatened failure of the talks among the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

They said the French delegation, which last weekend objected to the plan for reshaping Western Germany's future, had given its full agreement to the Ruhr international authority for control over allocations of the valley's minerals.

These sources said the United States delegation had made some concessions toward a French demand that international control be given additional powers to safeguard against the possibility that any expanded German production would be used as a war potential.

Marshall Turns Down "Churchman" Award

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today he will not accept the annual award of the Churchman magazine because the publication engaged in world political discussions of a very marked character.

Marshall explained why he was turning down the award after Dr. Guy Emery Shipler, editor of the unofficial Episcopal magazine, had made public correspondence with one of Marshall's assistants.

A letter from Marshall S. Carter to Dr. Shipler noted the Churchman's "editorials extend far into the realm of politics and international affairs," and that "the Secretary does not feel he can accept the award."

Widow "Over 90" Is Wed To Man, 37; Gets No Kiss

MOIRA, N. Y., May 26 (AP)—A widow who says she is "over 90" was married today to a 37-year-old farm hand at a church wedding that drew about 3,000 spectators.

Clarence McGee slipped a 10-cent-store ring on Mrs. Eliza Murray's finger and confessed he couldn't kiss the bride "with all o'these people looking on."

It was a special legal holiday in the neighboring hamlet of Brushton, close to the Canadian border, where the two live.

McGee's buggy had a broken wheel, so a friend drove them to church in an automobile. They then sat outside for 12 minutes waiting for the district superintendent of the Methodist church to sanction the marriage. There had been "some complaints," Rev. Lewis McConnell, pastor, reported.

The bride wore a blue and white print dress and a white orchid. She had plastic flowers in her hair. The groom sported a white carnation in the lapel of his grey tweed jacket.

Mrs McGee has borne seven children, two of whom died in a traffic accident which cost her a leg. She has an artificial left leg.

Her first husband, Charlie, died last February at the age of 98.

She gave her age as 80 for the marriage license record, but her 68-year-old son James agrees with her own private estimate, that she must be more than 90.

"Like every other woman, she doesn't like to tell her age," he observed.

The couple will live at the bride's home. They may take a honeymoon trip later.

Housewife Only Stutters After $25,000 Surprise

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—A Chicago housewife took the stunning, but thrilling, jolt of a $24,900 surprise today—and only stuttered a little.

Then a few minutes later she grew weak in the knees, got the trembles and had to sit down and fan herself with the only thing at hand a $25,000 check.

She is Mrs. Florence Leadinghouse, 50, grey-haired mother of two grown sons whose only previous contest winnings totaled $2 for a cookie recipe.

She was informed she had won a $100 runnerup prize in a soap company contest by selecting Baltimore as the mystery city and writing the best 25-word essay.

The contest was called the "Hidden Treasure Contest." The object was to determine in which city the imaginary "hidden treasure" was buried. Various clues were given for a number of weeks over all the soap firm's radio shows.

Near the end of the contest, a clue was given which accentuated the words "ball," "tea" and "more."

Dressed in a blue print silk dress, blue straw hat and blue cloth coat, she came downtown to pick up her check.

Then before a studio audience of more than 100 in the Sherman Hotel, she was handed the check—folded and held by the announcer so it could be read only line by line. She had to get her glasses out of her purse to read it.

When she came to the amount she cried, "Ow-ow-ow—tw-twenty-five thousand dollars."

Asked how it felt to come into a small fortune, she blinked, looked dazed and said, "I don't know—I'll have to think."

Dewey Confident He Will Be Chosen

TRENTON, N. J. May 26 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey said today he is confident of winning the Republican nomination for President.

I've brought lots of good news from the West," the New York Governor told newsmen on arriving here after a 4,500-mile swing through seven western states. "I expect to be nominated."

Dewey came into New Jersey seeking to regain some of the strength he held in 1944, when he won the nomination, and in 1940, when it went to Wendell Willkie.

Wallace In Race To Stay

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, May 26 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace said today he will remain in the 1948 presidential race until the last votes are counted in November.

Arriving here from Coos Bay, Ore., for a third party rally, Wallace replied to a Chicago address by Arthur Krock, chief Washington correspondent for the New York Times. Krock said yesterday he believed the former vice president will abandon the race before November.

Stassen Favors U.N. Force

BOSTON, May 26. (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said today he is in favor of the United Nations sending a "stabilizing force" to the Holy Land rather than lifting the arms embargo to Israel.

The Republican presidential aspirant said such a force could be organized without giving Russia the chance for a possible veto.

Stassen came to Massachusetts seeking "second choice" support among the Bay State's 35 delegates, who have already indicated they would cast their first ballot at Philadelphia for United States Sen. Leverett Saltonstall as a "favorite son."

Virden Will Stay On In Commerce Dept. Post

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—John C. Virden, his loyalty doubly stamped with approval, decided today to stay on in his high Department of Commerce job.

His daughter Euphemia with whom he broke because she took a job with the Soviet news agency Tass, stayed on likewise in her job, transmitting news dictated to her by Tass reporters.

Virden resigned last Friday, after Rep. Crawford (R-Mich) had called attention to his daughter's employment. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer asked him not to quit, and President Truman assured him in an unusual letter yesterday that "my faith in your loyalty is unshaken."

'Voice' Scripts

One script, dealing with Utah and Nevada, noted that Nevada's two principal cities are "in competition." It said that "people get married in Las Vegas and divorced in Reno."

Alabama "Darkest" State

Capehart said this was "enlightening." The American people, he added, are spending money "to send that sort of trash over the radio."

The same script referred to Brigham Young, leader of the Mormons, as "carrying a bottle of whisky in one pocket and a cud of chewing tobacco in the other," but not using either.

Turning to Alabama, Capehart said the script referred to the city of Birmingham as being "poorly made." He quoted the script as saying the city "was constructed in a hurry and they have not had time to improve it."

The same broadcast referred to Alabama as the "darkest" of all states, with this explanation:

"In no other part of the United States have the colored people suffered and struggled so much as here."

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), noting the absence of an Alabama Senator, took the floor to denounce the broadcast as a "contemptible, damnable lie."

Baltimore Cab Driver Beaten, Shot To Death

BALTIMORE, May 26. (AP)—A young furloughed aircraft mechanic, temporarily driving a taxicab, was found beaten and shot to death at the wheel early today in a Northwest Baltimore alley.

He was Cornelius Arthur McDowell, 25, who came here with his family from Clarksburg, W. Va., in 1941 and went to work at the Glenn L. Martin airplane plant.

A couple just going to bed saw the cab drive into the alley about 12:30 a. m. and reported a tall slender man in a white shirt ran up the alley and between two houses after a shot was fired.

House Group Approves Bay Crossing Measure

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The House Roads Subcommittee today unanimously approved a bill to authorize construction of a tunnel and bridge across Chesapeake Bay from Sandy Point to the Eastern Shore in Maryland.

Rep. Beall (R-Md) said the committee, at his request, submitted the bill already passed by the Senate for the one he introduced in the House.

This means, he said, that if the House passes the measure June 7 when it comes up on the consent calendar the measure will go to the White House.

Wallace To Testify

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP) — Henry Wallace will testify against the Mundt-Nixon Communist control bill Saturday.

The Senate Judiciary Committee starts three days of hearing on the House-passed measure tomorrow (8 a. m. EST).

Dewey Confident He Will Be Chosen

TRENTON, N. J. May 26 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey said today he is confident of winning the Republican nomination for President.

I've brought lots of good news from the West," the New York Governor told newsmen on arriving here after a 4,500-mile swing through seven western states. "I expect to be nominated."

Dewey came into New Jersey seeking to regain some of the strength he held in 1944, when he won the nomination, and in 1940, when it went to Wendell Willkie.

Wallace In Race To Stay

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, May 26 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace said today he will remain in the 1948 presidential race until the last votes are counted in November.

Arriving here from Coos Bay, Ore., for a third party rally, Wallace replied to a Chicago address by Arthur Krock, chief Washington correspondent for the New York Times. Krock said yesterday he believed the former vice president will abandon the race before November.

Stassen Favors U.N. Force

BOSTON, May 26. (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said today he is in favor of the United Nations sending a "stabilizing force" to the Holy Land rather than lifting the arms embargo to Israel.

The Republican presidential aspirant said such a force could be organized without giving Russia the chance for a possible veto.

Stassen came to Massachusetts seeking "second choice" support among the Bay State's 35 delegates, who have already indicated they would cast their first ballot at Philadelphia for United States Sen. Leverett Saltonstall as a "favorite son."

Virden Will Stay On In Commerce Dept. Post

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—John C. Virden, his loyalty doubly stamped with approval, decided today to stay on in his high Department of Commerce job.

His daughter Euphemia with whom he broke because she took a job with the Soviet news agency Tass, stayed on likewise in her job, transmitting news dictated to her by Tass reporters.

Virden resigned last Friday, after Rep. Crawford (R-Mich) had called attention to his daughter's employment. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer asked him not to quit, and President Truman assured him in an unusual letter yesterday that "my faith in your loyalty is unshaken."

'Voice' Scripts

One script, dealing with Utah and Nevada, noted that Nevada's two principal cities are "in competition." It said that "people get married in Las Vegas and divorced in Reno."

Alabama "Darkest" State

Capehart said this was "enlightening." The American people, he added, are spending money "to send that sort of trash over the radio."

The same script referred to Brigham Young, leader of the Mormons, as "carrying a bottle of whisky in one pocket and a cud of chewing tobacco in the other," but not using either.

Turning to Alabama, Capehart said the script referred to the city of Birmingham as being "poorly made." He quoted the script as saying the city "was constructed in a hurry and they have not had time to improve it."

The same broadcast referred to Alabama as the "darkest" of all states, with this explanation:

"In no other part of the United States have the colored people suffered and struggled so much as here."

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), noting the absence of an Alabama Senator, took the floor to denounce the broadcast as a "contemptible, damnable lie."

Baltimore Cab Driver Beaten, Shot To Death

BALTIMORE, May 26. (AP)—A young furloughed aircraft mechanic, temporarily driving a taxicab, was found beaten and shot to death at the wheel early today in a Northwest Baltimore alley.

He was Cornelius Arthur McDowell, 25, who came here with his family from Clarksburg, W. Va., in 1941 and went to work at the Glenn L. Martin airplane plant.

A couple just going to bed saw the cab drive into the alley about 12:30 a. m. and reported a tall slender man in a white shirt ran up the alley and between two houses after a shot was fired.

House Group Approves Bay Crossing Measure

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The House Roads Subcommittee today unanimously approved a bill to authorize construction of a tunnel and bridge across Chesapeake Bay from Sandy Point to the Eastern Shore in Maryland.

Rep. Beall (R-Md) said the committee, at his request, submitted the bill already passed by the Senate for the one he introduced in the House.

This means, he said, that if the House passes the measure June 7 when it comes up on the consent calendar the measure will go to the White House.

Wallace To Testify

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP) — Henry Wallace will testify against the Mundt-Nixon Communist control bill Saturday.

The Senate Judiciary Committee starts three days of hearing on the House-passed measure tomorrow (8 a. m. EST).

Enlist In Army

Three new enlistments were announced at the Army and Air Force Recruiting office here yesterday by Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow.

The new men are Willard Howdyshell, 423 Grand Avenue, Cavalry Division; Harold Cunningham Henlin, Bayard, W. Ca., Regular Army, and Ottis Clemen Champ, Zihlman, Md., Merical Corps.

Cloudburst Washes Out 250 Feet Of C. & O. Tracks

RICHMOND, Va., May 26 (AP)—A cloudburst washed out 250 feet of double main line track of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway today at Windsor Shades, 27 mlies east of here.

Officials of the railroad said the washout had forced cancellation of all trains eastbound from Richmond and those westbound from Newport News.

Polish Ruling Blasts Hopes Of 19,000 Persons

WARSAW, Poland, May 26 (AP)—Hopes of 19,000 persons in Poland who claim American citizenship and want to go to the United States faded today.

Poland ruled that persons born abroad anywhere of Polish parents are Polish citizens exclusively, regardless of the date of their birth.

Commissioner Holmes' Protest Seems Justified

There is only one way to properly carry on a business, whether it be that of a county, city, state government, private concern or corporation, and that is by the practice of making every transaction according to procedure prescribed in by-laws or other agreed to policies.

It does not appear such is the case with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, so it is little wonder that Commissioner Holmes became irritated when he learned that Commissioner Wilkinson had had fire insurance on county buildings increased without the county board acting on an official order, in regular session, approving such action.

The fact that the matter had been a subject of general discussion by the commissioners at a previous meeting after the fire insurance underwriters had recommended increases of the coverage on county buildings, and the fact that all members of the board were in agreement that the amount of protection should be increased, was no reason why Commissioner Wilkinson should have ordered the increase without an order being formally approved by the entire board.

A short time ago, it is recalled, Commissioner Wilkinson accused State's Attorney Harris of "acting like a kid" during a heated controversy over the question of adequate office space for the county prosecutor since fire had deprived him of his quarters in the Union Street County Building. It will appear to many that it is he who is "acting like a kid" when he attempts to defend his singular action in the fire insurance issue by stating that he did not get an opportunity to vote on all matters when he was, what he considers, a minority member of the board. Commissioner Holmes was quick to deny that he (Wilkinson) had ever been denied the opportunity to vote on all matters which came before the board. Commissioner Wilkinson's retort to this: "That's what you say," will not satisfy anyone.

Commissioner Holmes had a right to demand that all business matters be acted upon in a formal, business-like way, and it is the duty of Commissioner Wilkinson, as president of the board, to see that that is done.

A court has decided poker is a rich man's game. Still pairs of deuces can fall on the rich as well as the poor.

Step Taken By City Was Too Long Delayed

The appointments of a city plumber and building inspector by Commissioner of Streets and Public Property Edgar Reynolds are two of the most important to be made by the city in many moons. But they was too long delayed. They should have come about soon after the war ended and when home-building was being stepped up to meet demands of veterans who returned from the wars to find they had no place to live.

The city has been most lax in offering proper supervision to those who have built homes in the past few years or who have purchased dwellings from private interests. To this fact can be traced much of the cause for complaints now being registered with the Veterans' Administration about poorly constructed homes.

These complaints tell how floorings have pulled apart, how doors have warped to such an extent as to make closing them difficult, and of plaster cracking and falling from walls and ceilings. These conditions cannot be blamed wholly on poor workmanship but to "green" and inferior materials which were permitted to go into the constructions.

It is believed the city building code provides sufficient authority to require that only "cured" materials go into future construction. If it does the regulations should be enforced to the letter. This should apply to plumbing as well, to the end that a builder or buyer of a home may do so with reasonable assurance of a long period of service, and without the risk of large expenditures to correct conditions which should never have been permitted to develop —and which would not have occurred had a building and plumbing inspector been available to make certain that these homes were properly constructed and plumbing properly installed.

The newly appointed inspectors have a deep responsibility, not only to future homeowners and, consequently, taxpayers, but to the city itself. With their knowledge of the tasks they are assuming it is to be hoped that they will see to it that conditions now existing will not be permitted to be repeated.

New York banker says there will be no depression if we keep our heads. And don't lose our shirts.

Stassen's Bandwagon Slowed By Oregon Vote

The result of the Oregon primary emphasizes a fact that first impressed itself upon the notice of those who follow politics closely after the primary in Ohio.

Mr. Stassen looks like a boy wonder when he gets the jump on the other fellow. But when he goes against an opponent who is as well prepared and works as hard as he, he is not necessarily so hot.

Stassen made his great record in Wisconsin and Nebraska. In those states his organization was better prepared and he did much more compaign work than his competitors. But Senator Taft took the lesson of Nebraska to heart. He matched Stassen with his own weapons in a three weeks' campaign in the Buckeye State. In the most critical districts, those in Cleveland, he made what amounted to almost a house-to-house canvass. The result was a Stassen defeat.

Dewey had heard about Wisconsin and Nebraska, too. He fought it out with Stassen during a prolonged campaign in Oregon. Stassen was beaten again, for Gov. Dewey's time in Oregon was well utilized. Although close, it was decisive result. Stassen's bandwagon was brought to an abrupt halt.

This being a candidate for the presidential nomination of one of the great American parties is an involved business. The Stassen tactics looked very effective a month ago. But the game has to be played with a certain self-restraint. After all, it is an intra-party matter and too much shoving may defeat its own purpose.

KEEP WELL HOW TO

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Discomfort From The Gall Bladder

Surgeons have been operating on the gall bladder for several generations and, during this period, many improvements in technic have been made. In consequence, the procedure is less dangerous and the outcome more favorable. But not every patient has been freed of symptoms following removal of the sac and some of the present projects are concerned with solving the problem of continued distress.

Dr. Van Dellen

The best results are obtained when gallstones and inflammation co-exist. Most such sufferers encounter periodic bouts of indigestion and one of more attacks of biliary colic associated with nausea, vomiting, and pain. Several years ago it was customary to remove the stones but not the gall bladder. It did not take long for the folly of this omission to become evident. In many, the disagreeable manifestations persisted or at best, comfort was shortlived. Now the entire structure is extirpated and cure follows in 80 to 95 per cent of all cases.

When infection but no stones are present, only 60 per cent are helped by surgical removal of the pouch. The more it is damaged, the better the outlook because in mild cases it is not always easy to determine whether disease of the organ is causing discomfort. Nervousness may be a factor as well as an improperly functioning pancrease, stomach, or bowl. In these circumstances, the operation will not necessarily ameliorate symptoms. This may be true even when it is infected as autopsy studies show that the condition frequently exists in persons who have never complained of trouble along this line.

For this reason, the physician usually recommends various tests before surgery. But even after the most careful studies reveal that something is amiss with the gall bladder, calling for operation, some patients are still uncomfortable after leaving the hospital. Others are helped for a time but, months or years later, suffer recurrences. No one knows exactly why this occurs but the answer has been found in many instances. Now and then, stones form in one of the liver passageways. Adhesions are rarely responsible despite the fact that they are frequently blamed.

In others, the nerves surrounding the remnant of the tube which once led to the gall bladder continue to misbehave. In this respect, the situation resembles the aching that develops in the stump of an individual who has had a leg or arm amputated.

The majority of physicians are of the opinion that the cause is muscular spasm of the tiny valve located at the end of the tube leading from the gall bladder to the intestine (biliary dyskinesia). When the valve becomes irritated, the passage of bile is blocked. It is felt by some that this structure has been the troublemaker right from the beginning and could account for the discomfort long before the gall bladder was removed. But since it is impossible to "spot" this derangement, the surgeon has no way of knowing beforehand. By using antispasmodic drugs and dietary discretion, relief often follows.

(Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflets on gall bladder disturbances).

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I'll buy that.

Nine Los Angeles advertising women were just honored at the Los Angeles advertising women's second annual award dinner.

The don't call their awards Oscars . . . they are known as "Lulus" or "hucksterettes."

Each girl was handed a scroll. Well, it wasn't really a scroll . . . it was a gilded spot announcement.

These girls are really wonderful. They carry on a career and run a home at the same time. They have to run a home so they'll have a place to put all their products.

I used to know quite a few advertising girls. It was really romantic the way we'd run through the park singing commercials together.

I knew of one girl who wrote commercials for a soap company. She was a wonderful girl but she took her job too seriously. They couldn't get her out of the bathtub.

And then there was a lady ad writer who used to do daytime serials. She had a brilliant career, but one day she forgot to have her heroine cry and they fired her.

And I heard about one advertising girl who thought up contests, she sat down to write her husband a letter and it started "I love you because. . ."

But knowing these girls has helped me a lot. You'd be surprised how my popularity picked up when I started reading the ads.

"HOW NOW BROWN COW"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Oleo Bloc Won't Help Housing; Taft Housing Bill Stymied By Southern Democrats And Reactionary Republicans; Arabian Pipeline Gets Steel

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 26 — For several days last month the House of Representatives was tied up in the famous oleo-butter debate. It created a national sensation.

The oleomargarine bill, pigeonholed by the dairy interests in the committee, was forced out by a petition signed by 218 Congressmen, half of them from the South. Then the debate started. For several days it raged, with full attendance on the House floor urged by both parties.

The argument of the oleomargarine Congressmen was that they were battling for the housewife. But actually they weren't. Many of them were battling because the powerful cottonseed lobby in the south had put on the heat. Campaign contributions, not housewives was the motivating force.

Today, another sort of battle looms in the House of Representatives—only this time the situation is reversed. This time not only the housewife is involved, but her children, her husband, and the future of the American family.

But this time, the Southern Congressmen who rushed in to sign the oleo petition aren't signing up. Neither are the Republicans. For this time the petition has to do with housing.

Real-Estate Lobby Pigeonholes

The Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing Act, stymied for two years, has now passed the Senate, and is pigeonholed in the House Banking and Currency Committee. Its opponents on this Committee include Rep. Charles Fletcher of San Diego, Cal., and Rep. John Riley of Sumter, S. C., both members of the real-estate lobby and both placed on the Committee with the help of lobbyist Morton Bodfish, now under indictment.

In addition, Chairman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan, sometimes called No. 1 tyrant of the House of Representatives, is determined not to let the housing bill out of his committee.

To overrule Wolcott and get the bill out requires 218 signatures on a petition, and Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas of California has courageously undertaken to get these 218 names. First she went to genial ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

"I've never signed a petition in my life, Helen," replied Rayburn, "but I'm with you in spirit and I'll help you. Go to John McCormack and get his name on there first."

Mrs. Douglas went to McCormack, who comes from a congested part of Boston. He too, had made it a practice not to sign discharge petitions, but in this case he made an exception. His name heads the list.

Mrs. Douglas has patiently, painstakingly, valiantly made the rounds of the House, has now collected 125 names. She needs 93 more. But they don't seem to be forthcoming—despite the fact that the bill has already passed the Senate.

Significant fact is that only 15 Southern Congressmen out of the total 110 Southerners in the House, have signed the petition in favor of housing—despite their frantic anxiety to sign a similar petition to get the oleomargarine bill out of committee.

The difference is that in the case of oleo, an active lobby was on the job, buying drinks, buttonholing Congressmen, putting on the pressure at home. But when it comes to housing, only the people are concerned—many of them poor people, uninformed people, people unfamiliar with exerting pressure on Congress. There are several million of these people, but politically speaking they aren't important. They don't contribute to political campaigns. They're not organized. They just want homes.

So, in these days when the country is worried about Communism, it might pay Congressman Wolcott of Michigan and his GOP henchmen, plus some of the Southern legislators, to remember that nothing is more effective in combatting Communism than a roof over your head and someplace where a mother can hear her children's prayers alone at night.

Note—Southern Congressmen who have recognized the need of housing by signing the discharge petition include: Jones of Alabama; Mills of Arkansas; Price and Smathers of Florida; Lanham of Georgia; Boggs and Morrison of Louisana; Deane of North Caroline; Stigler, Albert and Morris of Oklahoma; Dorn and Bryson of South Carolina; Kefauver of Tennessee; Patman of Texas.

Steel For Arabia

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal gave his word to Congress recently that he would hold up steel shipments to Saudi-Arabia until his military chiefs passed on whether a pipeline from the oil fields to the Mediterranean was necessary to American security. The Commerce Department, which controls export licenses of steel, also agreed.

Nevertheless, despite these promises, this column has learned that the American-Arabian oil company is planning to pick up 16,000 tons of steel for shipment to the Near East on June 11, 12, and 22. The company also has started to lay the pipeline across the desert although, previously, company officials promised to hold off until they got the green light from Congress.

Note—Secretary Forrestal's old banking firm has done the financing for some of the companies backing American-Arabian oil.

"Protocols Of the Wise Men" Senator Harley Kilgore, forthright West Virginia Democrat, has asked the Post Office Department to investigate whether rabble-rousing Gerald L. K. Smith violated the postal laws in using the mails to circulate a document, purported to be a Jewish master-plan for conquering the world.

A copy of the document, so-called "The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion," was mailed by Smith to each member of Congress. These protocols have reappeared perennially throughout history whenever propagandists wanted to impose on a gullible public. The old Czarist regime in Russia published them, as did Henry Ford and later Adolf Hitler.

To settle the question of their authenticity, Senator Kilgore called upon the Library of Congress and received a detailed summary which branded the protocals as "rank and pernicious forgeries." He has now asked the Post Office Department whether it is permissible to send them through the mails.

The Twilight Terror: I Prague

IN THIS newest of the police states, there is no visible terror. Instead, Prague has an air of drab respectability. Dumpy women wheel their baby carriages in the lovely spring sunshine. The crowded trolley cars are painted a cheerful red. The restaurant food is worse than England's and the store windows are sparsely filled. Yet the air of determined, un-Marxist respectability persists. The Western visitor even notes with some surprise an occasional peculiar Czech version of that intensely bourgeois importation, "The New Look." Except for the ubiquity of the tough, red-capped police, Prague might almost be any western European city. Yet there is a difference. The terror is invisible. Yet it is there, below the surface.

Today, hardly three months since the Czechs meekly surrendered their liberties, the terror is still of a special and peculiar kind. There are stories, to be sure, which seep through to the isolated Westerners, and which have a familiar ring—stories of a wife beaten in her husband's presence to force him to confess his part in the underground railway to the West; stories of a soldier whose arm was calmly broken by the secret police because he grumbled during the parade for Bulgaria's Dimitrov; stories of men kept standing with their arms above their heads till the pain became excruciating and they confessed to political crimes which they did not commit. But although such things undoubtedly happen, the chances are that they do not happen very often.

For the terror in Czechoslovakia is for the most part an oddly polite terror—for the time being. To be sure, the jails are so overflowing with political prisoners that the excess has had to be accommodated in "work camps"—the polite term for concentration camps. And the rubber hose and the rifle butt to the jaw are certainly occasionally found necessary—just how often is doubtless known only to the Ministry of the Interior's tough second-in-command, Jindrich Vassili, or to Colonel Rietzin, little-known chief of the O.B.Z. (the N.K.V.D. of this particular progressive democracy).

Yet far more typical than the rubber hose or the rifle butt of the fashion in which Czechoslovakia's new ruling class maintains its absolute authority is the case of a Czech whom we shall call Jan Konac. Mr. Konac might be a lawyer, or a small business man, or a doctor, or an anti-Communist trade union leader. He might even be the secretary of a rowing club or of the Pingpong Association, since these two have been purified, like every aspect of Czech life. In this case, however, Mr. Konac is, or was, a civil servant.

Mr. Konac has not been clubbed or thrown into jail. Indeed, no one has even raised his voice to Mr. Konac. Yet Mr. Konac is a victim of the terror just as surely as the few who have felt the rifle butt or the eight to ten thousand who have fled to the cold comfort of the American D.P. camps in Germany. Before February, Mr. Konac was an argumentative and unwisely outspoken anti-Communist Social Democrat. One morning some weeks ago, Mr. Konac found a short note on his desk. It was signed by the action committee of his Ministry. (Action committees were the chief instruments of purification—there was one for the Pingpong Association too). The action committee not impolitely informed Mr. Konac that he had been adjudged unsuitable for further employment in his current capacity.

So Mr. Konac lost his job. He also lost his beloved pension, for which he had worked long years at less than the going salary, in the expectation of a secure old age. A few days after the note arrived on his desk, Mr. Konac was informed by the action committee of his apartment house that he must vacate his apartment. Even so, Mr. Konac has not been sent to jail. He has not even been sent to the mines, although the law says that unless he finds another job within a limited number of weeks, the government can so dispose of him.

But the difficulty is in finding another job. Always, when Mr. Konac applies, he is asked why he left the Ministry. When he answers that the action committee found him unsuitable, the answer is always the same—"Sorry, all full up." In the end, Mr. Konac has taken a job as a workman, for which he is in no way suited, lest the government direct him to "suitable" employment. Although not a hair on his head has been touched, Mr. Konac no longer thinks of challenging the authority of his new masters. Indeed, at least in public, he professes his loyalty in most enthusiastic terms.

Some nimble Czechs have fared better than Mr. Konac. There is, for example, the case of the anti-Communist newspaper editor, whose ringing denunciations of the Communists before the regime took power cost him his job. Now he has turned up as the public information officer of an important Ministry, at a better salary than before, having undergone a startling political conversion. Yet Mr. Konac's case is more typical, and the example of the thousands of Mr. Konacs exerts a quiet, continuing pressure on the hundreds of thousands of potential Mr. Konacs, so that no breath of opposition to the regime (except among a few students) is heard in Czechoslovakia today.

A kind of dim twilight terror thus broods over the country of the dead Masaryk and the old and broken Benes. Yet, for reasons which will be examined later in this space, those who should know are unanimous in the conviction that this twilight terror cannot last for long. Soon, perhaps within a few months, the night of terror must come

Tactics Parallel To Russia's Used By Britain In Palestine

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 26—There must be red faces in London just as there are red faces in Washington. For the headlines tell a strange tale that savors of hypocrisy and makes the argument of the European democracies seem hollow.

For here is a big nation helping another conduct a war. It is not a war against Communism or an ideology this time. It is a war against an infant nation struggling for survival. The United Nations, formed to stop wars, looks on interestedly but is again unwilling to make one of the big powers behave.

When Yugoslavia and Bulgaria and, later, Czechoslovakia were overrun by the Russian totalitarians, the democracies pointed to such action as aggression—as infiltration into a weaker state. But the answer of Russia was that her "vital interests" were at stake, that she wanted a "friendly" neighbor within her "sphere of influence."

Today the Arab states each with their totalitarian bosses — hardly different from Dimitrov in Bulgaria and Tito in Yugoslavia—are dominated by British policy and British subsidies. A British-trained army subsidized by the British government helps the totalitarian ruler of Trans-Jordan to fight against a neighboring state which is striving to set up a democracy.

Britain Created Trans-Jordan

It was Britain which created Trans-Jordan out of the Syrian territory which was a part of the British mandated area. It was Britain, too, which told the other governments always that this "sphere of influence" was a natural means of protecting the British empire's life lines and her oil supply. This is the kind of imperialism which gives the Moscow communists their argument for doing the same thing within their "sphere of influence."

Inside the United Nations it is Britain now which obstructs and opposes where only a few weeks ago it was Russia using her veto to prevent a settlement from being imposed from the outside.

The British claim that the United States should not be disturbed as they are merely protecting American interests in the Near East. But it is worth recalling that Britain's willingness to share her power with America in the Arab areas is of recent origin. American oil companies got their concessions in the Near East only through State Department pressure for the "open door."

It might be recalled, too, that the British broke the strike in the oil fields of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company in southern Iran only by sending a division of troops from India to a point in Iraq near the Iranian frontier—a method of pressure on Teheran which differs little from the Russian pressure with troops on the border of Iran.

Two wrongs never make a right. Two imperialistic policies do not balance one another. But the United States, which is giving so generously of its funds to bolster the democracies of western Europe, cannot with a straight face make an argument about the disinterestedness of the western democracies as long as the British government assists the Trans-Jordan armies to make war on the infant Republic of Israel.

British Use Russian Tactics

There are many Americans who never shared the view that the territory now known as Israel should be set aside as the home of a religions but merely as the territory of Palestinians of the Jewish faith. Today, however, the question has ceased to be one as between factions of Jews. It has become a test of the sincerity of a major power which, in the face of legal recognition by the United States government, allows one of its satellites to make war on such a legally recognized government and then blandly asks that the buck be passed to the United Nations. Only when the U. N. declares the military action of the Arab states to be illegal, the British say, will they refrain from giving aid to Trans-Jordan. The moment the United States recognized the little republic of Israel, it became an act of war under international law for Great Britain to render aid to the enemies of the state that was being recognized.

It will be difficult hereafter for Foreign Secretary Bevin to accuse Stalin and the Russian communists of expansion when, in reality, parallel tactics are being used by Britain to protect her own material interests, all in the guise of "empire security."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Great American Hoax

THE DUNN Survey, which has been extraordinarily right so often, has made an analysis of the primaries, not to discover candidates for the Presidency but rather what happened to members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act.

It will be remembered that the C.I.O. and the P.A.C. and even some A.F. of L. unions threatened to extirpate members of Congress who voted for this measure. They threatened to drive them out of political life. They called the Taft-Hartley Bill a slave law and the Communists conducted a bitter propaganda against all who favored the act.

It will also be recalled that the reason that Harold Stassen thought that he might be extraordinarily successful in Ohio was that he was certain that "labor" would oppose Senator Taft because of the Taft-Hartley Bill. He modified his attitude toward the Bill in Ohio on the assumption that Taft would have to support it and Stassen could question its validity.

So 92 members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley Bill came up for renomination and this is the Dunn Survey report on the subject:

Voted for Taft Hartley Law.

1. Members of Congress Seeking renomination	92
Members of Congress won renomination	87
Members of Congress Lost renomination (for all causes)	5
2. Members of Congress opposed by CIO-PAC in primary elections	19
Members of Congress opposed by CIO-PAC in primary elected	17
Members of Congress opposed by CIO-PAC in primary defeated	2*

*Pennsylvania (1): Florida (1)

There were 14 additional primary election contests in which CIO-PAC failed to oppose Members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley law.

This report covers Illinois, Nebraska, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, and Florida.

In this connection, it is interesting to note that in the Advisory Nationwide Poll of Daily Newspaper Editors made for the Collier's prizes, 42 editors voted for Congressman Hartley for the first choice and 30 for second choice, for the prize which that magazine gives annually for the most constructive member of the House of Representatives. The highest number of votes in that poll were 47 for Speaker Joe Martin for first choice and 42 for him for second choice. In a word, in this poll, Congressman Hartley came second, which proves that his unpopularity does not appear in the facts. These editors represent every shade of opinion in the country and many of them must have been Democrats.

Now, the value of all this is that it is an index to public opinion about labor matters. Too often we accept as public opinion the violent articulations of pressure groups who are able to overwhelm us with their vehemence. But there is a cold, factual, inescapable public opinion in the United States which makes itself felt in elections and in the responses to politicians, particularly to members of Congress when they come home among their own people.

It is this public opinion that really counts and that results in such political overturns as 1932 and 1946 It is this silent response to the challenge of the needs of the country that the Republicans are counting upon to bring them to victory. Similarly, Henry Wallace is counting on it to produce a huge protest from those who, while anti-Communist, will nevertheless vote for him as a protest against the Truman Administration and its confusions and uncertainties. The poll of editors, made by Collier's for the use of their prize committee and not made public until it appeared in this column, is particularly useful as providing a spontaneous index to the attitude of the moment.

Commissioner Holmes' Protest Seems Justified

There is only one way to properly carry on a business, whether it be that of a county, city, state government, private concern or corporation, and that is by the practice of making every transaction according to procedure prescribed in by-laws or other agreed to policies.

It does not appear such is the case with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, so it is little wonder that Commissioner Holmes became irritated when he learned that Commissioner Wilkinson had had fire insurance on county buildings increased without the county board acting on an official order, in regular session, approving such action.

The fact that the matter had been a subject of general discussion by the commissioners at a previous meeting after the fire insurance underwriters had recommended increases of the coverage on county buildings, and the fact that all members of the board were in agreement that the amount of protection should be increased, was no reason why Commissioner Wilkinson should have ordered the increase without an order being formally approved by the entire board.

A short time ago, it is recalled, Commissioner Wilkinson accused State's Attorney Harris of "acting like a kid" during a heated controversy over the question of adequate office space for the county prosecutor since fire had deprived him of his quarters in the Union Street County Building. It will appear to many that it is he who is "acting like a kid" when he attempts to defend his singular action in the fire insurance issue by stating that he did not get an opportunity to vote on all matters when he was, what he considers, a minority member of the board. Commissioner Holmes was quick to deny that he (Wilkinson) had ever been denied the opportunity to vote on all matters which came before the board. Commissioner Wilkinson's retort to this: "That's what you say," will not satisfy anyone.

Commissioner Holmes had a right to demand that all business matters be acted upon in a formal, business-like way, and it is the duty of Commissioner Wilkinson, as president of the board, to see that that is done.

Step Taken By City Was Too Long Delayed

The appointments of a city plumber and building inspector by Commissioner of Streets and Public Property Edgar Reynolds are two of the most important to be made by the city in many moons. But they was too long delayed. They should have come about soon after the war ended and when home-building was being stepped up to meet demands of veterans who returned from the wars to find they had no place to live.

The city has been most lax in offering proper supervision to those who have built homes in the past few years or who have purchased dwellings from private interests. To this fact can be traced much of the cause for complaints now being registered with the Veterans' Administration about poorly constructed homes.

These complaints tell how floorings have pulled apart, how doors have warped to such an extent as to make closing them difficult, and of plaster cracking and falling from walls and ceilings. These conditions cannot be blamed wholly on poor workmanship but to "green" and inferior materials which were permitted to go into the constructions.

It is believed the city building code provides sufficient authority to require that only "cured" materials go into future construction. If it does the regulations should be enforced to the letter. This should apply to plumbing as well, to the end that a builder or buyer of a home may do so with reasonable assurance of a long period of service, and without the risk of large expenditures to correct conditions which should never have been permitted to develop —and which would not have occurred had a building and plumbing inspector been available to make certain that these homes were properly constructed and plumbing properly installed.

The newly appointed inspectors have a deep responsibility, not only to future homeowners and, consequently, taxpayers, but to the city itself. With their knowledge of the tasks they are assuming it is to be hoped that they will see to it that conditions now existing will not be permitted to be repeated.

Stassen's Bandwagon Slowed By Oregon Vote

The result of the Oregon primary emphasizes a fact that first impressed itself upon the notice of those who follow politics closely after the primary in Ohio.

Mr. Stassen looks like a boy wonder when he gets the jump on the other fellow. But when he goes against an opponent who is as well prepared and works as hard as he, he is not necessarily so hot.

Stassen made his great record in Wisconsin and Nebraska. In those states his organization was better prepared and he did much more compaign work than his competitors. But Senator Taft took the lesson of Nebraska to heart. He matched Stassen with his own weapons in a three weeks' campaign in the Buckeye State. In the most critical districts, those in Cleveland, he made what amounted to almost a house-to-house canvass. The result was a Stassen defeat.

Dewey had heard about Wisconsin and Nebraska, too. He fought it out with Stassen during a prolonged campaign in Oregon. Stassen was beaten again, for Gov. Dewey's time in Oregon was well utilized. Although close, it was decisive result. Stassen's bandwagon was brought to an abrupt halt.

This being a candidate for the presidential nomination of one of the great American parties is an involved business. The Stassen tactics looked very effective a month ago. But the game has to be played with a certain self-restraint. After all, it is an intra-party matter and too much shoving may defeat its own purpose.

Discomfort From The Gall Bladder

Surgeons have been operating on the gall bladder for several generations and, during this period, many improvements in technic have been made. In consequence, the procedure is less dangerous and the outcome more favorable. But not every patient has been freed of symptoms following removal of the sac and some of the present projects are concerned with solving the problem of continued distress.

The best results are obtained when gallstones and inflammation co-exist. Most such sufferers encounter periodic bouts of indigestion and one of more attacks of biliary colic associated with nausea, vomiting, and pain. Several years ago it was customary to remove the stones but not the gall bladder. It did not take long for the folly of this omission to become evident. In many, the disagreeable manifestations persisted or at best, comfort was shortlived. Now the entire structure is extirpated and cure follows in 80 to 95 per cent of all cases.

When infection but no stones are present, only 60 per cent are helped by surgical removal of the pouch. The more it is damaged, the better the outlook because in mild cases it is not always easy to determine whether disease of the organ is causing discomfort. Nervousness may be a factor as well as an improperly functioning pancrease, stomach, or bowl. In these circumstances, the operation will not necessarily ameliorate symptoms. This may be true even when it is infected as autopsy studies show that the condition frequently exists in persons who have never complained of trouble along this line.

For this reason, the physician usually recommends various tests before surgery. But even after the most careful studies reveal that something is amiss with the gall bladder, calling for operation, some patients are still uncomfortable after leaving the hospital. Others are helped for a time but, months or years later, suffer recurrences. No one knows exactly why this occurs but the answer has been found in many instances. Now and then, stones form in one of the liver passageways. Adhesions are rarely responsible despite the fact that they are frequently blamed.

In others, the nerves surrounding the remnant of the tube which once led to the gall bladder continue to misbehave. In this respect, the situation resembles the aching that develops in the stump of an individual who has had a leg or arm amputated.

The majority of physicians are of the opinion that the cause is muscular spasm of the tiny valve located at the end of the tube leading from the gall bladder to the intestine (biliary dyskinesia). When the valve becomes irritated, the passage of bile is blocked. It is felt by some that this structure has been the troublemaker right from the beginning and could account for the discomfort long before the gall bladder was removed. But since it is impossible to "spot" this derangement, the surgeon has no way of knowing beforehand. By using antispasmodic drugs and dietary discretion, relief often follows.

Nine Los Angeles advertising women were just honored at the Los Angeles advertising women's second annual award dinner.

The don't call their awards Oscars . . . they are known as "Lulus" or "hucksterettes."

Each girl was handed a scroll. Well, it wasn't really a scroll . . . it was a gilded spot announcement.

These girls are really wonderful. They carry on a career and run a home at the same time. They have to run a home so they'll have a place to put all their products.

I used to know quite a few advertising girls. It was really romantic the way we'd run through the park singing commercials together.

I knew of one girl who wrote commercials for a soap company. She was a wonderful girl but she took her job too seriously. They couldn't get her out of the bathtub.

And then there was a lady ad writer who used to do daytime serials. She had a brilliant career, but one day she forgot to have her heroine cry and they fired her.

And I heard about one advertising girl who thought up contests, she sat down to write her husband a letter and it started "I love you because. . ."

But knowing these girls has helped me a lot. You'd be surprised how my popularity picked up when I started reading the ads.

"HOW NOW BROWN COW"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Oleo Bloc Won't Help Housing; Taft Housing Bill Stymied By Southern Democrats And Reactionary Republicans; Arabian Pipeline Gets Steel

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 26 — For several days last month the House of Representatives was tied up in the famous oleo-butter debate. It created a national sensation.

The oleomargarine bill, pigeonholed by the dairy interests in the committee, was forced out by a petition signed by 218 Congressmen, half of them from the South. Then the debate started. For several days it raged, with full attendance on the House floor urged by both parties.

The argument of the oleomargarine Congressmen was that they were battling for the housewife. But actually they weren't. Many of them were battling because the powerful cottonseed lobby in the south had put on the heat. Campaign contributions, not housewives was the motivating force.

Today, another sort of battle looms in the House of Representatives—only this time the situation is reversed. This time not only the housewife is involved, but her children, her husband, and the future of the American family.

But this time, the Southern Congressmen who rushed in to sign the oleo petition aren't signing up. Neither are the Republicans. For this time the petition has to do with housing.

Real-Estate Lobby Pigeonholes

The Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing Act, stymied for two years, has now passed the Senate, and is pigeonholed in the House Banking and Currency Committee. Its opponents on this Committee include Rep. Charles Fletcher of San Diego, Cal., and Rep. John Riley of Sumter, S. C., both members of the real-estate lobby and both placed on the Committee with the help of lobbyist Morton Bodfish, now under indictment.

In addition, Chairman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan, sometimes called No. 1 tyrant of the House of Representatives, is determined not to let the housing bill out of his committee.

To overrule Wolcott and get the bill out requires 218 signatures on a petition, and Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas of California has courageously undertaken to get these 218 names. First she went to genial ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

"I've never signed a petition in my life, Helen," replied Rayburn, "but I'm with you in spirit and I'll help you. Go to John McCormack and get his name on there first."

Mrs. Douglas went to McCormack, who comes from a congested part of Boston. He too, had made it a practice not to sign discharge petitions, but in this case he made an exception. His name heads the list.

Mrs. Douglas has patiently, painstakingly, valiantly made the rounds of the House, has now collected 125 names. She needs 93 more. But they don't seem to be forthcoming—despite the fact that the bill has already passed the Senate.

Significant fact is that only 15 Southern Congressmen out of the total 110 Southerners in the House, have signed the petition in favor of housing—despite their frantic anxiety to sign a similar petition to get the oleomargarine bill out of committee.

The difference is that in the case of oleo, an active lobby was on the job, buying drinks, buttonholing Congressmen, putting on the pressure at home. But when it comes to housing, only the people are concerned—many of them poor people, uninformed people, people unfamiliar with exerting pressure on Congress. There are several million of these people, but politically speaking they aren't important. They don't contribute to political campaigns. They're not organized. They just want homes.

So, in these days when the country is worried about Communism, it might pay Congressman Wolcott of Michigan and his GOP henchmen, plus some of the Southern legislators, to remember that nothing is more effective in combatting Communism than a roof over your head and someplace where a mother can hear her children's prayers alone at night.

Note—Southern Congressmen who have recognized the need of housing by signing the discharge petition include: Jones of Alabama; Mills of Arkansas; Price and Smathers of Florida; Lanham of Georgia; Boggs and Morrison of Louisana; Deane of North Caroline; Stigler, Albert and Morris of Oklahoma; Dorn and Bryson of South Carolina; Kefauver of Tennessee; Patman of Texas.

Steel For Arabia

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal gave his word to Congress recently that he would hold up steel shipments to Saudi-Arabia until his military chiefs passed on whether a pipeline from the oil fields to the Mediterranean was necessary to American security. The Commerce Department, which controls export licenses of steel, also agreed.

Nevertheless, despite these promises, this column has learned that the American-Arabian oil company is planning to pick up 16,000 tons of steel for shipment to the Near East on June 11, 12, and 22. The company also has started to lay the pipeline across the desert although, previously, company officials promised to hold off until they got the green light from Congress.

Note—Secretary Forrestal's old banking firm has done the financing for some of the companies backing American-Arabian oil.

"Protocols Of the Wise Men"

Senator Harley Kilgore, forthright West Virginia Democrat, has asked the Post Office Department to investigate whether rabble-rousing Gerald L. K. Smith violated the postal laws in using the mails to circulate a document, purported to be a Jewish master-plan for conquering the world.

A copy of the document, so-called "The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion," was mailed by Smith to each member of Congress. These protocols have reappeared perennially throughout history whenever propagandists wanted to impose on a gullible public. The old Czarist regime in Russia published them, as did Henry Ford and later Adolf Hitler.

To settle the question of their authenticity, Senator Kilgore called upon the Library of Congress and received a detailed summary which branded the protocals as "rank and pernicious forgeries." He has now asked the Post Office Department whether it is permissible to send them through the mails.

The Twilight Terror: I Prague

IN THIS newest of the police states, there is no visible terror. Instead, Prague has an air of drab respectability. Dumpy women wheel their baby carriages in the lovely spring sunshine. The crowded trolley cars are painted a cheerful red. The restaurant food is worse than England's and the store windows are sparsely filled. Yet the air of determined, un-Marxist respectability persists. The Western visitor even notes with some surprise an occasional peculiar Czech version of that intensely bourgeois importation, "The New Look." Except for the ubiquity of the tough, red-capped police, Prague might almost be any western European city. Yet there is a difference. The terror is invisible. Yet it is there, below the surface.

Today, hardly three months since the Czechs meekly surrendered their liberties, the terror is still of a special and peculiar kind. There are stories, to be sure, which seep through to the isolated Westerners, and which have a familiar ring—stories of a wife beaten in her husband's presence to force him to confess his part in the underground railway to the West; stories of a soldier whose arm was calmly broken by the secret police because he grumbled during the parade for Bulgaria's Dimitrov; stories of men kept standing with their arms above their heads till the pain became excruciating and they confessed to political crimes which they did not commit. But although such things undoubtedly happen, the chances are that they do not happen very often.

For the terror in Czechoslovakia is for the most part an oddly polite terror—for the time being. To be sure, the jails are so overflowing with political prisoners that the excess has had to be accommodated in "work camps"—the polite term for concentration camps. And the rubber hose and the rifle butt to the jaw are certainly occasionally found necessary—just how often is doubtless known only to the Ministry of the Interior's tough second-in-command, Jindrich Vassili, or to Colonel Rietzin, little-known chief of the O.B.Z. (the N.K.V.D. of this particular progressive democracy).

Yet far more typical than the rubber hose or the rifle butt of the fashion in which Czechoslovakia's new ruling class maintains its absolute authority is the case of a Czech whom we shall call Jan Konac. Mr. Konac might be a lawyer, or a small business man, or a doctor, or an anti-Communist trade union leader. He might even be the secretary of a rowing club or of the Pingpong Association, since these two have been purified, like every aspect of Czech life. In this case, however, Mr. Konac is, or was, a civil servant.

Mr. Konac has not been clubbed or thrown into jail. Indeed, no one has even raised his voice to Mr. Konac. Yet Mr. Konac is a victim of the terror just as surely as the few who have felt the rifle butt or the eight to ten thousand who have fled to the cold comfort of the American D.P. camps in Germany. Before February, Mr. Konac was an argumentative and unwisely outspoken anti-Communist Social Democrat. One morning some weeks ago, Mr. Konac found a short note on his desk. It was signed by the action committee of his Ministry. (Action committees were the chief instruments of purification—there was one for the Pingpong Association too). The action committee not impolitely informed Mr. Konac that he had been adjudged unsuitable for further employment in his current capacity.

So Mr. Konac lost his job. He also lost his beloved pension, for which he had worked long years at less than the going salary, in the expectation of a secure old age. A few days after the note arrived on his desk, Mr. Konac was informed by the action committee of his apartment house that he must vacate his apartment. Even so, Mr. Konac has not been sent to jail. He has not even been sent to the mines, although the law says that unless he finds another job within a limited number of weeks, the government can so dispose of him.

But the difficulty is in finding another job. Always, when Mr. Konac applies, he is asked why he left the Ministry. When he answers that the action committee found him unsuitable, the answer is always the same—"Sorry, all full up." In the end, Mr. Konac has taken a job as a workman, for which he is in no way suited, lest the government direct him to "suitable" employment. Although not a hair on his head has been touched, Mr. Konac no longer thinks of challenging the authority of his new masters. Indeed, at least in public, he professes his loyalty in most enthusiastic terms.

Some nimble Czechs have fared better than Mr. Konac. There is, for example, the case of the anti-Communist newspaper editor, whose ringing denunciations of the Communists before the regime took power cost him his job. Now he has turned up as the public information officer of an important Ministry, at a better salary than before, having undergone a startling political conversion. Yet Mr. Konac's case is more typical, and the example of the thousands of Mr. Konacs exerts a quiet, continuing pressure on the hundreds of thousands of potential Mr. Konacs, so that no breath of opposition to the regime (except among a few students) is heard in Czechoslovakia today.

A kind of dim twilight terror thus broods over the country of the dead Masaryk and the old and broken Benes. Yet, for reasons which will be examined later in this space, those who should know are unanimous in the conviction that this twilight terror cannot last for long. Soon, perhaps within a few months, the night of terror must come

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 26—There must be red faces in London just as there are red faces in Washington. For the headlines tell a strange tale that savors of hypocrisy and makes the argument of the European democracies seem hollow.

For here is a big nation helping another conduct a war. It is not a war against Communism or an ideology this time. It is a war against an infant nation struggling for survival. The United Nations, formed to stop wars, looks on interestedly but is again unwilling to make one of the big powers behave.

When Yugoslavia and Bulgaria and, later, Czechoslovakia were overrun by the Russian totalitarians, the democracies pointed to such action as aggression—as infiltration into a weaker state. But the answer of Russia was that her "vital interests" were at stake, that she wanted a "friendly" neighbor within her "sphere of influence."

Today the Arab states each with their totalitarian bosses — hardly different from Dimitrov in Bulgaria and Tito in Yugoslavia—are dominated by British policy and British subsidies. A British-trained army subsidized by the British government helps the totalitarian ruler of Trans-Jordan to fight against a neighboring state which is striving to set up a democracy.

Britain Created Trans-Jordan

It was Britain which created Trans-Jordan out of the Syrian territory which was a part of the British mandated area. It was Britain, too, which told the other governments always that this "sphere of influence" was a natural means of protecting the British empire's life lines and her oil supply. This is the kind of imperialism which gives the Moscow communists their argument for doing the same thing within their "sphere of influence."

Inside the United Nations it is Britain now which obstructs and opposes where only a few weeks ago it was Russia using her veto to prevent a settlement from being imposed from the outside.

The British claim that the United States should not be disturbed as they are merely protecting American interests in the Near East. But it is worth recalling that Britain's willingness to share her power with America in the Arab areas is of recent origin. American oil companies got their concessions in the Near East only through State Department pressure for the "open door."

It might be recalled, too, that the British broke the strike in the oil fields of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company in southern Iran only by sending a division of troops from India to a point in Iraq near the Iranian frontier—a method of pressure on Teheran which differs little from the Russian pressure with troops on the border of Iran.

Two wrongs never make a right. Two imperialistic policies do not balance one another. But the United States, which is giving so generously of its funds to bolster the democracies of western Europe, cannot with a straight face make an argument about the disinterestedness of the western democracies as long as the British government assists the Trans-Jordan armies to make war on the infant Republic of Israel.

British Use Russian Tactics

There are many Americans who never shared the view that the territory now known as Israel should be set aside as the home of a religions but merely as the territory of Palestinians of the Jewish faith. Today, however, the question has ceased to be one as between factions of Jews. It has become a test of the sincerity of a major power which, in the face of legal recognition by the United States government, allows one of its satellites to make war on such a legally recognized government and then blandly asks that the buck be passed to the United Nations. Only when the U. N. declares the military action of the Arab states to be illegal, the British say, will they refrain from giving aid to Trans-Jordan. The moment the United States recognized the little republic of Israel, it became an act of war under international law for Great Britain to render aid to the enemies of the state that was being recognized.

It will be difficult hereafter for Foreign Secretary Bevin to accuse Stalin and the Russian communists of expansion when, in reality, parallel tactics are being used by Britain to protect her own material interests, all in the guise of "empire security."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Great American Hoax

THE DUNN Survey, which has been extraordinarily right so often, has made an analysis of the primaries, not to discover candidates for the Presidency but rather what happened to members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act.

It will be remembered that the C.I.O. and the P.A.C. and even some A.F. of L. unions threatened to extirpate members of Congress who voted for this measure. They threatened to drive them out of political life. They called the Taft-Hartley Bill a slave law and the Communists conducted a bitter propaganda against all who favored the act.

It will also be recalled that the reason that Harold Stassen thought that he might be extraordinarily successful in Ohio was that he was certain that "labor" would oppose Senator Taft because of the Taft-Hartley Bill. He modified his attitude toward the Bill in Ohio on the assumption that Taft would have to support it and Stassen could question its validity.

So 92 members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley Bill came up for renomination and this is the Dunn Survey report on the subject:

Voted for Taft Hartley Law.

1. Members of Congress Seeking renomination	92
Members of Congress won renomination	87
Members of Congress Lost renomination (for all causes)	5
2. Members of Congress opposed by CIO-PAC in primary elections	19
Members of Congress opposed by CIO-PAC in primary elected	17
Members of Congress opposed by CIO-PAC in primary defeated	2*

*Pennsylvania (1): Florida (1)

There were 14 additional primary election contests in which CIO-PAC failed to oppose Members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley law.

This report covers Illinois, Nebraska, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, and Florida.

In this connection, it is interesting to note that in the Advisory Nationwide Poll of Daily Newspaper Editors made for the Collier's prizes, 42 editors voted for Congressman Hartley for the first choice and 30 for second choice, for the prize which that magazine gives annually for the most constructive member of the House of Representatives. The highest number of votes in that poll were 47 for Speaker Joe Martin for first choice and 42 for him for second choice. In a word, in this poll, Congressman Hartley came second, which proves that his unpopularity does not appear in the facts. These editors represent every shade of opinion in the country and many of them must have been Democrats.

Now, the value of all this is that it is an index to public opinion about labor matters. Too often we accept as public opinion the violent articulations of pressure groups who are able to overwhelm us with their vehemence. But there is a cold, factual, inescapable public opinion in the United States which makes itself felt in elections and in the responses to politicians, particularly to members of Congress when they come home among their own people.

It is this public opinion that really counts and that results in such political overturns as 1932 and 1946 It is this silent response to the challenge of the needs of the country that the Republicans are counting upon to bring them to victory. Similarly, Henry Wallace is counting on it to produce a huge protest from those who, while anti-Communist, will nevertheless vote for him as a protest against the Truman Administration and its confusions and uncertainties. The poll of editors, made by Collier's for the use of their prize committee and not made public until it appeared in this column, is particularly useful as providing a spontaneous index to the attitude of the moment.

Baering Down On The News

If Russia and Washington really mean peace let's exchange prisoners. We'll give 'em Hankus Wallace if they will give us that sergeant back again.

One thing I would like to do is write Hank's biography. I mean complete.

That lad has built himself up the nuisance value of sand in salad. There is an old saying — if you scratch a Russian you find a tartar. Possibly it would be a good idea for our state department to let the Russians scratch themselves.

We have been outsmarted diplomatically all along the line. Stalin sent Marshall for a paper stretcher and he came back with a left-handed monkey wrench.

If Mr. Truman is nominated at Philadelphia on the second Monday after the first pay-day in July what happens? The South objects to autocratic stalemates with monarchial options.

On July 12 the Solid South will proclaim liberty throughout the delegation unto all the proxies thereof. It will raise more hades than the devil with a derrick.

Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Florida, South Carolina, Texas and Tennessee say the national committee has no more choice than something going over a dam. The seven states swing 91 electoral votes by the tail.

The feathers will fly in Philadelphia. There may be a bucket of tar with them. This looks like one convention that should be opened with a gong.

Officials To Select Playleaders Soon

Leaders for Cumberland's 12 playgrounds will probably be named Tuesday by the Mayor and Council, according to Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, a member of the Park Board.

Two leaders are chosen for each playground with the exception of Pine Avenue, which has one playleader.

Before the start of the season, which is tentatively scheduled June 23, the leaders are expected to be given a short course in playground technique and first aid, Mrs. Findlay said.

Woman's Civic Club Visits Landmarks

Thirty members of the Woman's Civic Club made the annual tour of the Preservation of Maryland Antiquities Group on Tuesday to Garrett County.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. William J. Edwards the group went to Oakland and had luncheon at Pickwick Inn, where spring flowers were used in the decorations.

Then, with John Uphold, employe of the state forestry department, serving as guide, a conducted tour was made of Harrington Manor with its slave quarters. While the old landmark was used as a CCC camp the boys constructed a lake, cabins, stone buildings and planted new timber, the guide explained.

Next, the group went to Swallow Falls and Mud River Falls, walking through the ravine and over to the table rock, enjoying the virgin forest and early wild flowers which are at their height of season now, although gone here in Allegany County. On their return trip they visited New Germany.

Thirty members of the Woman's Civic Club made the annual tour of the Preservation of Maryland Antiquities Group on Tuesday to Garrett County.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Maturity Means More Than Age In Marriage, Miss Fairfax Says

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About a year ago I fell deeply in love with a fellow eleven years my senior. Sometimes he shows such affection toward me that I think he feels the same way. But one night we had a long talk in which he said there could never be anything between us because of the difference in our ages. I just can't seem to convince him that this does not matter.

I cannot go on like this, loving him so much with him feeling as he does. Please advise me.

"BLUE"

Dear "Blue":

Since you don't say how old you are, it would be pretty difficult for me to form an opinion as to whether 11 years' difference in your ages is important or not. If, for example, you happen to be 20, and the man 31, this age difference might matter more than if you were 25 or 26 and he was 36 or 37. The point is, of course, that the older a girl is, the less such an age difference matters. If, however a girl is unusually mature at 20 or thereabouts, a man of 30 or so might not be too old for her, since the success of any marriage depends to a very large degree on whether or not a man and a woman have reached approximately the same point of maturity.

If this man has no real intention of marrying you, and has told you so, however, you are foolish to let him hang around, no matter how much you may like him. It is not fair of him to monopolize you and keep you from making friends who might be other matrimonial prospects, and you shouldn't let him do it.

Be Content With Friendship

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17, and I have been going out pretty steadily with a boy of the same age for about six months.

About a year ago, he was going with a girl who moved away, and he has not seen her since. He says he is still in love with her. Do you think a boy of his age could be in love with a girl and still be in love with her after a year of not seeing her? From what I have heard of the girl, I don't think she is too suitable for him. How can I open his eyes without having him think I'm doing it to get him interested in me? I don't care for myself, because I believe that a girl of my age can't really love any boy.

"PUZZLED"

Dear "Puzzled":

Of course you're doing it for yourself, and you might just as well realize and admit this frankly. No girl is going to care who a boy likes, whether suited to him or not, unless she is very much interested in him.

It would be very bad tactics, however, for you to try and "open his eyes," as you put it, to what you consider the faults of this other girl. Nothing makes a boy think so little of a girl as to hear her run down another girl.

As to your other question, I think it extremely unlikely that a boy of this age could be "in love" with anybody, and I think the same about a girl of your age. Why not be sensible about all this, and be satisfied to be just good friends with this boy?

Area Sailor Is Declared Dead

Seaman First Class Thomas Milton Cook, 24, Bedford Valley, Pa., who was reported lost at sea April 3, has been officially listed as dead by the Navy Department.

His wife, Mrs. Betty (Simpson) Cook, Bedford Valley, Pa., ex-nurse's aide at Allegany Hospital, said the Navy reported his death as an "accidental drowning." The body has not been recovered.

Telegrams received by Mrs. Cook and his mother, Mrs. William C. Baker, Wiley Ford, said he fell overboard from a gun mount into a calm sea about five miles off the coast of Greece. He was serving aboard the cruiser, USS Manchester.

Mrs. Cook describes her husband as a "poor swimmer" and said he had been serving aboard the ship since enlisting here in September, 1946. He was home on a 20-day leave over the Christmas holidays.

S 1-c Cook, son of the late Grover Cook, was employed in the Coning Department at the Celanese plant both before and after serving in the Army four years, including 30 months in Europe with the Ninth Armored Division. He was honorably discharged in December, 1945.

He and his wife were married July 11, 1947. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Mary Sampson, Stamford, Conn., and one brother, George W. Cook, RFD 3, Bedford, Pa.

In the last hundred years the machine bolt industry has grown to huge proportions. It is estimated that, taking into consideration the many types or styles of bolts, with the various diameters and lengths plus the nuts to fit them, there are rather more than 400,000 different items manufactured which it is possible to order by size and name.

Four American Golfers Survive In British Amateur

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, May 26—(AP)—The Brooklyn fans probably don't realize it yet, but they are going to miss Hugh Casey tremendously during the next 60 days, or as long as it takes him to recover from injuries suffered when he dusted off a flight of stairs, with his back.

There is something so solid and comforting about the big lug as he ambles in from the bullpen to take over somebody's unfinished mound chore. With his moon face lopsided from a huge chaw of cut plug, and his uniform straining at the seams like a sack of oats, his whole appearance and demeanor said: "Don't get excited folks; we'll take care of this right away."

Somehow his size and slow, deliberate movements seem to fit exactly anybody's idea of what a relief pitcher should be like. Plodding along as he does, he looks like a farmer at peace with the world in from a day in the fields instead of a guy entering a hot ball game in a hot spot.

It takes a serene, unexcitable man to be a relief pitcher. Almost invariably they come into action when the outlook is bleak. There are men on the bases. The thick part of the batting order is coming up, and the game hinges on the ability of the chucker to get the men out. It's no place for a guy with butterflies in his stomach.

Casey fits the pattern, not only looking the part but having the disposition, and when he took over the fans breathed much easier. He wasn't always successful, of course, but he was charged with only four defeats last season while winning 10 games. And he saved innumerable games for other pitchers.

This year his luck hasn't been so good. In fact, in his frequent appearances during the recent losing streak he had his best pitches draped against the fences the same as the other Brookly hurlers. But the season is young, and, plump and aging, he could be counted on to do his best work when the hot weather arrived.

Now he is gone for a spell. Maybe for longer than anyone thinks, because at his age a man doesn't come back from injuries quite as rapidly as do the youngsters.

Eddie Stanky . . . Dixie Walker . . . Cookie Lavagetto . . . Al Gionfriddo.. Vic Lombardi . . . Hal Gregg . . . and now Hugh Casey. All prominent figures in the Dodgers' surge to the pennant last year and in the world series, and now no longer with the club.

Maybe the team would be doing better right now if it had those men back, but that's one of those unanswerable questions.

The fans can't blame Branch Rickey for Casey's absence. They ave blamed him for everything else, but this time they'll have to keep quiet. After all, Rickey didn't trip Hughie to collect insurance on him.

The Dodgers under Leo Durocher are in an unenviable spot. During the years when he was riding high Durocher went out of his way to make enemies around the league, and there are a lot of elephants around the circuit when it comes to memories.

They will be gunning for Durocher, and it will be the team's tough luck that it is the innocent victim of the feuds. The other clubs can avenge themselves against the manager only by knocking his team lopsided, and that's what they'll be trying to do.

Anyway, with Casey out of action Durocher's troubles are multiplied. The big, amiable guy was quite a relief to have around.

Plan $6,000,000 Improvements At New York Tracks

Make State Race Center Of East

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 26—(INS)—Race track owners love to tell you how they are virtually living from hand to mouth. Attendance off, betting off, taxes up, up-keep higher.

Sad, isn't it?

And yet, this very minute those poor devils who hardly know where their next million is coming from, are planning to spend $6,000,000 to make New York the racing center of the east.

The plan calls for the purchase of some 500 acres, now mostly owned by an estate, not very far from Belmont Park.

Two one-mile tracks are to be built on this land but for training purposes only, not for racing. Houses will be built for trainers, jockeys and stable hands.

New Stables Planned

New stables will take care of 1,000 horses, which, with the 1,400 stable accommodations at Belmont Park, would house 2,400 horses comfortably in the metropolitan area.

It is planned to do away with the stables now standing at the Aqueduct and Jamacia tracks, thus giving each track room to handle far bigger crowds and more parking space for autos.

The big shots in the Jockey Club hope to establish this new place as the racing center of the east, comparable to New Market in England.

It is hoped that many large stables will keep their horses in New York the year around, shipping them off now and then to race at tracks in New England, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Kentucky.

Of course, the horses would have to be vanned every day from this training center to Belmont, Jamaica and Aqueduct. But this presents no new problem for they are so vanned every day now.

A van, capable of carrying six horses, can be rented every day for $40 a round trip. Many stables have their own vans.

It is figured that a horse could be quartered at this new training ground for $12 a day. That's what it costs to keep a horse anywhere these days.

Make Tracks Beautiful

Those behind the move — and they include some of the most famous names in the country, Vanderbilts, Whitneys, et al — hope to make these metropolitan tracks —Belmont, Aqueduct and Jamaica —as beautiful as some of those California tracks. Unfortunately, they can't have mountains for a backdrop as they do in California.

But they can, and will, incorporate some of the California ideas of beautiful surroundings and comfort for the racing fans. At present, New York racing fans are handled like so many cattle at a stockyard.

Indians Handed First Shutout

CLEVELAND, May 26 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians were handed their first shutout of the season tonight as Sid Hudson and Tom Ferrick combined to limit the Redskins to three hits as the Washington Nationals triumphed 2 to 0 before 30,612.

Hudson throttled the Tribe with one hit until the eighth but was replaced in that frame when the Indians loaded the bases on two singles and a walk after two were out.

Although they lost, the Indians remained in first place by the margin of two percentage points over the Philadelphia Athletics.

WASHINGTON ..... 010 000 100—2 8 0
CLEVELAND ..... 000 000 000—0 3 1
Hudson, Ferrick (8) and Evans; Bearden, Muncrief (9) and Hegan, Tipton (9).

Sauer's Homer Trips Boston, 8-5

Boston, May 26 (AP)—Rallying behind Hank Sauer's 10th homer of the season, the Cincinnati Reds came from behind to snatch an 8-5 win over the Boston Braves tonight before an 18,839 chill-braving crowd. While gaining their first win in three starts against the Tribesmen, the last-place Redlegs chased Warren Spahn, the Boston southpaw ace, with a two-run barrage in the sixth to take command. Score:

Louis Favored To Win Return Go With Walcott

230 Writers Pick Champ To Repeat

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—Sports writers who saw the first Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott fight believe the Jersey veteran has a better chance to reverse the verdict than their brethren who weren't present.

In both cases Louis is favored to retain his title when the two Negro battlers meet again at Yankee Stadium, June 23. But close to one-third of the writers—11 to 34—who saw the first bout and who participated in a nationwide Associated Press poll figure Jersey Joe will lift the crown.

The overall voting showed 230 writers lining up behind the champion with only 52 stringing along with Walcott.

The 23 first bout observers picking Louis all predict the champion will win by a knockout. The Brown Bomber won a much disputed 15 round decision last Dec. 5 in Madison Square Garden. Seven of them like the fifth round as the finisher, five favor the third and four the seventh. None expects it to go beyond the ninth.

Of the 282 writers who made a choice — including those who did and did not witness the Dec. 5 scrap —a total of 228 predict the champion will store Walcott away somewhere along the route. The fourth and fifth are the most popular rounds.

Three New York writers—Jimmy Powers of the Daily News, Wilbur Wood of the New York Sun and Max Kase of the Journal American —favor Walcott.

Three others—Dan Parker of the Daily Mirror, Joseph P. Val of the World Telegram and Harry Singer of the Pot-Home News—line up with Louis.

Louis will be in shape. He will be thirsting for revenge," comments Parker.

Gordon Cobbledick of the Cleveland Plain Dealer likes Walcott because, he says, "Louis is too far gone physically ever to come back."

Paul B. Zimmerman of the Los Angeles Times is so sold on the champion, he says: "Walcott shouldn't be in the same ring."

Jesse Linthicum of the Baltimore Sun, picking Walcott by a kayo in the second, declares, "Louis is shot."

Jinx Tucker of the Waco, Tex., News-Tribune and Times-Herald put in a stroke for Louis. "In any competition between a has-been and a never-wasser," he said, "you can't go far wrong in taking the has-been."

Legion Swamps Barrelville By 16 To 2 Score

Thompson Hurls Four-Hit Game

Cumberland American Legion tossers won their fourth straight Interstate League victory yesterday as they swamped Barrelville, 16 to 2, behind the four-hit hurling of Allen Thompson at Community Park in a twilight affair. The game was limited to seven innings by agreement.

Manager Art Garbark's Fort Cumberland Post nine lost little time putting the game on ice, scoring twice in the first inning and adding seven more in the second, driving Clarence Mull, Barrelville's starting pitcher, from the hill under an 18-hit barrage.

Bill Bracey collected four hits in as many trips to the plate for the Legionnaires and also tallied four times. Jim Gaffney poled a homer with one on in the first inning and Bill Cumiskey and Eddie Diehl each chipped in with a three-bagger for the winners. Bob Pence, Bill Bracey and Carl Cecil collected two-base knocks in the parade of extra-base blows by Cumberland.

Pence's stop of Robinette's hard smash to throw the runner out was the fielding play of the game.

Thompson struck out the side in the seventh frame and totaled seven strikeout victims for the game while walking only one batter.

Saturday tilts in the Interstate loop will find Moorefield meeting the F. O. Eagles at Community Park, Romney invading Ridgeley to battle the Ridgeley American Legion, Centerville meeting Barrelville at the latter place and Hyndman Firemen colliding with the Cumberland L. O. O. Moose nine at Stitcher Field. The score:

Keeping pace with the loop leaders Reed's Electricians garnered their seventh victory with an easy 13-6 win over Mower's Bakery at East Side. Beckmand and Scaletta collected three hits each to lead the 15-hit Reed assault on Jack Stotler. Homeruns Defeat Kitzmiller, 8-7, In Extra Frame

5 Circuit Blows Hit As Explorers Cop

Two homeruns in the last of the eighth inning, one with a man on base, enabled the LaSalle High School Explorers to come from behind yesterday at Community Park to edge the Kitzmiller High School tossers, 8-7, in the Centre Streeters final game of the season.

Five homers were hit in the contest, four by the Explorers, who showed their best batting punch of the year pounding out eight bingles four for extra bases.

The game was tied 5-5 at the close of the regulation seven innings. Kitzmiller punched over two tallies in the top half of the extra frame. Sharpless singled and went to third as Luffy was safe on Shortstop Mickey Clark's error. When Bob Wood, Exporer pitcher, threw wild to first after fielding McClung's bouncer back to the box both Sharpless and Luffy scored.

Jim Collins opened the bottom half of the eighth by bounding out to the shortstop. Wood then drew Kitzmiller's seventh pass of the game. Then Mickey Clark, atoning for his previous miscue, blasted a long drive to right center for a homerun scoring Wood before him and again knotting the count. Jim Close, the next batter for LaSalle, then parked the next pitch into left center and raced around the bases for the fourth Explorer round-tripper to break up the game.

In chalking up his second win of the season and the Explorer's sixth victory in 12 starts, Wood fanned seven and walked four. Kitzmiller, losing hurler, struck out six and issued seven passes.

Dick Leo paced the LaSalle attack with three hits including a four-base blow while Reissig also collected a homer for the winners. Hershberger and Sharpless shared four of the seven hits given up by Wood. Sharpless and Luffy collected the only extra-base knocks for the losers with the former hitting for the circuit and the latter pounding out a two-bagger. Box:

A'S TROUNCE CHISOX

CHICAGO, May 26 — (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics recorded their fourth straight victory by toppling the Chicago White Sox, 7-1, before 2,697 persons today. The victory, highlighted by Joe Coleman's five-hit pitching, was the A's fifth in nine games of their first western swing.

The A's were held hitless until the fourth by starter Orval Grove, who retired after the winners blended three singles with his throwing error for a 2-0 lead.

Chicago scored its only run in the same inning. Luke Appling walked with one out, advanced to second on an infield out and scored on Tony Lupien's single—the White Sox's first hit off Coleman.

The A's pushed across five runs in the seventh on only two hits. This meager swatting was sandwiched around three of Chicago's four errors and three walks to wind up the scoring.

Willie Turnesa Defends Title, Wins 2 Rounds

Stranahan And Sweeney Also Win

By THOMAS C. WATSON
INS Sports Writer

SANDWICH, Eng., May 26, (INS) —The American Eagle lost a few pinfeathers in the British Amateur Golf tournament today but talons and wings survived when Willie Turnesa and three compatriots soared through to the tournament's fourth round.

Turnest, going actively into the lists for the first time in defense of his 1947 title, won twice during the day with consummate ease.

One of the little New Yorker's victims was a fellow-American, Frank Tatum, Oxford Rhodes scholar from Los Angeles, whom he eliminated without strain by 5 and 3 in the second round.

Willie Beats Tolley

In the third round, Willie ran the two-time ex-champion, Cyril Tolley, out of the tournament by the same count to launch his '48 championship aegis with something of a flourish.

But it was the other half of last year's All-American final, Dick Chapman, Pinehurst, N. C., and British Walker Cupper Joe Carr who provided the day's big moment in a great third-round match. Chapman, grimly resourceful as always, won it on the 17th green, 2 and 1.

But not before Ireland's Carr had put on a tremendous show—four over even 3's for eight of the first nine holes. Briefly, so good was Chapman, a lost ball on the second hole lost Carr the match.

Meanwhile, two other ranking U. S. threats—Frank Stranahan and Bob Sweeney—were still doggedly in there at the close of the third round.

The impetuous Stranahan maintained the superb level of his three-year British adventure with a 4 and 3 defeat of the dangerous Gerald Micklem, one of the better Britons.

Sweeney Is Victor

Sweeney, a trans-Atlantic commutor who won the British Amateur in 1937, came through two matches today, a la Turnesa. In the second round, the Anglo-American knocked off Gordon Dewar, the Scot from Carnoustie, by 3 and 1. In the third, Sweeney's bemused and abashed victim, Viscount Coke, expired painlessly, 7 and 6.

All told, American casualties were slight, save in the case of S-Sgt. Charles Jennings, Medford, N. J., soldier with the occupation forces in German. Jennings went out in the third round, as he did a year ago, this time by 3 and 1 at the instigation of Scotland's Wallace MacArthur.

Chris Dunphy, New York, furnished the remaining American obituary, via a 5 and 4 defeat at the hands of Frank Pennink, England.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, May 26—(AP)—The Brooklyn fans probably don't realize it yet, but they are going to miss Hugh Casey tremendously during the next 60 days, or as long as it takes him to recover from injuries suffered when he dusted off a flight of stairs, with his back.

There is something so solid and comforting about the big lug as he ambles in from the bullpen to take over somebody's unfinished mound chore. With his moon face lopsided from a huge chaw of cut plug, and his uniform straining at the seams like a sack of oats, his whole appearance and demeanor said: "Don't get excited folks; we'll take care of this right away."

Somehow his size and slow, deliberate movements seem to fit exactly anybody's idea of what a relief pitcher should be like. Plodding along as he does, he looks like a farmer at peace with the world in from a day in the fields instead of a guy entering a hot ball game in a hot spot.

It takes a serene, unexcitable man to be a relief pitcher. Almost invariably they come into action when the outlook is bleak. There are men on the bases. The thick part of the batting order is coming up, and the game hinges on the ability of the chucker to get the men out. It's no place for a guy with butterflies in his stomach.

Casey fits the pattern, not only looking the part but having the disposition, and when he took over the fans breathed much easier. He wasn't always successful, of course, but he was charged with only four defeats last season while winning 10 games. And he saved innumerable games for other pitchers.

This year his luck hasn't been so good. In fact, in his frequent appearances during the recent losing streak he had his best pitches draped against the fences the same as the other Brookly hurlers. But the season is young, and, plump and aging, he could be counted on to do his best work when the hot weather arrived.

Now he is gone for a spell. Maybe for longer than anyone thinks, because at his age a man doesn't come back from injuries quite as rapidly as do the youngsters.

Eddie Stanky . . . Dixie Walker . . . Cookie Lavagetto . . . Al Gionfriddo.. Vic Lombardi . . . Hal Gregg . . . and now Hugh Casey. All prominent figures in the Dodgers' surge to the pennant last year and in the world series, and now no longer with the club.

Maybe the team would be doing better right now if it had those men back, but that's one of those unanswerable questions.

The fans can't blame Branch Rickey for Casey's absence. They ave blamed him for everything else, but this time they'll have to keep quiet. After all, Rickey didn't trip Hughie to collect insurance on him.

The Dodgers under Leo Durocher are in an unenviable spot. During the years when he was riding high Durocher went out of his way to make enemies around the league, and there are a lot of elephants around the circuit when it comes to memories.

They will be gunning for Durocher, and it will be the team's tough luck that it is the innocent victim of the feuds. The other clubs can avenge themselves against the manager only by knocking his team lopsided, and that's what they'll be trying to do.

Anyway, with Casey out of action Durocher's troubles are multiplied. The big, amiable guy was quite a relief to have around.

Plan $6,000,000 Improvements At New York Tracks

Make State Race Center Of East

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 26—(INS)—Race track owners love to tell you how they are virtually living from hand to mouth. Attendance off, betting off, taxes up, up-keep higher.

Sad, isn't it?

And yet, this very minute those poor devils who hardly know where their next million is coming from, are planning to spend $6,000,000 to make New York the racing center of the east.

The plan calls for the purchase of some 500 acres, now mostly owned by an estate, not very far from Belmont Park.

Two one-mile tracks are to be built on this land but for training purposes only, not for racing. Houses will be built for trainers, jockeys and stable hands.

New Stables Planned

New stables will take care of 1,000 horses, which, with the 1,400 stable accommodations at Belmont Park, would house 2,400 horses comfortably in the metropolitan area.

It is planned to do away with the stables now standing at the Aqueduct and Jamacia tracks, thus giving each track room to handle far bigger crowds and more parking space for autos.

The big shots in the Jockey Club hope to establish this new place as the racing center of the east, comparable to New Market in England.

It is hoped that many large stables will keep their horses in New York the year around, shipping them off now and then to race at tracks in New England, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Kentucky.

Of course, the horses would have to be vanned every day from this training center to Belmont, Jamaica and Aqueduct. But this presents no new problem for they are so vanned every day now.

A van, capable of carrying six horses, can be rented every day for $40 a round trip. Many stables have their own vans.

It is figured that a horse could be quartered at this new training ground for $12 a day. That's what it costs to keep a horse anywhere these days.

Make Tracks Beautiful

Those behind the move — and they include some of the most famous names in the country, Vanderbilts, Whitneys, et al — hope to make these metropolitan tracks —Belmont, Aqueduct and Jamaica —as beautiful as some of those California tracks. Unfortunately, they can't have mountains for a backdrop as they do in California.

But they can, and will, incorporate some of the California ideas of beautiful surroundings and comfort for the racing fans. At present, New York racing fans are handled like so many cattle at a stockyard.

Indians Handed First Shutout

CLEVELAND, May 26 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians were handed their first shutout of the season tonight as Sid Hudson and Tom Ferrick combined to limit the Redskins to three hits as the Washington Nationals triumphed 2 to 0 before 30,612.

Hudson throttled the Tribe with one hit until the eighth but was replaced in that frame when the Indians loaded the bases on two singles and a walk after two were out.

Although they lost, the Indians remained in first place by the margin of two percentage points over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Louis Favored To Win Return Go With Walcott

230 Writers Pick Champ To Repeat

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—Sports writers who saw the first Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott fight believe the Jersey veteran has a better chance to reverse the verdict than their brethren who weren't present.

In both cases Louis is favored to retain his title when the two Negro battlers meet again at Yankee Stadium, June 23. But close to one-third of the writers—11 to 34—who saw the first bout and who participated in a nationwide Associated Press poll figure Jersey Joe will lift the crown.

The overall voting showed 230 writers lining up behind the champion with only 52 stringing along with Walcott.

The 23 first bout observers picking Louis all predict the champion will win by a knockout. The Brown Bomber won a much disputed 15 round decision last Dec. 5 in Madison Square Garden. Seven of them like the fifth round as the finisher, five favor the third and four the seventh. None expects it to go beyond the ninth.

Of the 282 writers who made a choice — including those who did and did not witness the Dec. 5 scrap —a total of 228 predict the champion will store Walcott away somewhere along the route. The fourth and fifth are the most popular rounds.

Three New York writers—Jimmy Powers of the Daily News, Wilbur Wood of the New York Sun and Max Kase of the Journal American —favor Walcott.

Three others—Dan Parker of the Daily Mirror, Joseph P. Val of the World Telegram and Harry Singer of the Pot-Home News—line up with Louis.

Louis will be in shape. He will be thirsting for revenge," comments Parker.

Gordon Cobbledick of the Cleveland Plain Dealer likes Walcott because, he says, "Louis is too far gone physically ever to come back."

Paul B. Zimmerman of the Los Angeles Times is so sold on the champion, he says: "Walcott shouldn't be in the same ring."

Jesse Linthicum of the Baltimore Sun, picking Walcott by a kayo in the second, declares, "Louis is shot."

Jinx Tucker of the Waco, Tex., News-Tribune and Times-Herald put in a stroke for Louis. "In any competition between a has-been and a never-wasser," he said, "you can't go far wrong in taking the has-been."

Legion Swamps Barrelville By 16 To 2 Score

Thompson Hurls Four-Hit Game

Cumberland American Legion tossers won their fourth straight Interstate League victory yesterday as they swamped Barrelville, 16 to 2, behind the four-hit hurling of Allen Thompson at Community Park in a twilight affair. The game was limited to seven innings by agreement.

Manager Art Garbark's Fort Cumberland Post nine lost little time putting the game on ice, scoring twice in the first inning and adding seven more in the second, driving Clarence Mull, Barrelville's starting pitcher, from the hill under an 18-hit barrage.

Bill Bracey collected four hits in as many trips to the plate for the Legionnaires and also tallied four times. Jim Gaffney poled a homer with one on in the first inning and Bill Cumiskey and Eddie Diehl each chipped in with a three-bagger for the winners. Bob Pence, Bill Bracey and Carl Cecil collected two-base knocks in the parade of extra-base blows by Cumberland.

Pence's stop of Robinette's hard smash to throw the runner out was the fielding play of the game.

Thompson struck out the side in the seventh frame and totaled seven strikeout victims for the game while walking only one batter.

Saturday tilts in the Interstate loop will find Moorefield meeting the F. O. Eagles at Community Park, Romney invading Ridgeley to battle the Ridgeley American Legion, Centerville meeting Barrelville at the latter place and Hyndman Firemen colliding with the Cumberland L. O. O. Moose nine at Stitcher Field. The score:

Keeping pace with the loop leaders Reed's Electricians garnered their seventh victory with an easy 13-6 win over Mower's Bakery at East Side. Beckmand and Scaletta collected three hits each to lead the 15-hit Reed assault on Jack Stotler. Scaletta relieved Sullivan in the second inning after Mower's had taken a 5-3 lead and stopped the Bakers with one tally thereafter.

Astor Cab rallied in the sixth inning to top North End, 7-6, at Rolling Mill diamond behind the eight-hit hurling of Bill Underdonk. Harry Dean and Baker had two hits apiece for the Cabbies while Whitman hit a homer with one on in the first inning for North End. Underdonk struck out seven.

Homeruns Defeat Kitzmiller, 8-7, In Extra Frame

5 Circuit Blows Hit As Explorers Cop

Two homeruns in the last of the eighth inning, one with a man on base, enabled the LaSalle High School Explorers to come from behind yesterday at Community Park to edge the Kitzmiller High School tossers, 8-7, in the Centre Streeters final game of the season.

Five homers were hit in the contest, four by the Explorers, who showed their best batting punch of the year pounding out eight bingles four for extra bases.

The game was tied 5-5 at the close of the regulation seven innings. Kitzmiller punched over two tallies in the top half of the extra frame. Sharpless singled and went to third as Luffy was safe on Shortstop Mickey Clark's error. When Bob Wood, Exporer pitcher, threw wild to first after fielding McClung's bouncer back to the box both Sharpless and Luffy scored.

Jim Collins opened the bottom half of the eighth by bounding out to the shortstop. Wood then drew Kitzmiller's seventh pass of the game. Then Mickey Clark, atoning for his previous miscue, blasted a long drive to right center for a homerun scoring Wood before him and again knotting the count. Jim Close, the next batter for LaSalle, then parked the next pitch into left center and raced around the bases for the fourth Explorer round-tripper to break up the game.

In chalking up his second win of the season and the Explorer's sixth victory in 12 starts, Wood fanned seven and walked four. Kitzmiller, losing hurler, struck out six and issued seven passes.

Dick Leo paced the LaSalle attack with three hits including a four-base blow while Reissig also collected a homer for the winners. Hershberger and Sharpless shared four of the seven hits given up by Wood. Sharpless and Luffy collected the only extra-base knocks for the losers with the former hitting for the circuit and the latter pounding out a two-bagger. Box:

A'S TROUNCE CHISOX

CHICAGO, May 26 — (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics recorded their fourth straight victory by toppling the Chicago White Sox, 7-1, before 2,697 persons today. The victory, highlighted by Joe Coleman's five-hit pitching, was the A's fifth in nine games of their first western swing.

The A's were held hitless until the fourth by starter Orval Grove, who retired after the winners blended three singles with his throwing error for a 2-0 lead.

Chicago scored its only run in the same inning. Luke Appling walked with one out, advanced to second on an infield out and scored on Tony Lupien's single—the White Sox's first hit off Coleman.

The A's pushed across five runs in the seventh on only two hits. This meager swatting was sandwiched around three of Chicago's four errors and three walks to wind up the scoring.

Willie Turnesa Defends Title, Wins 2 Rounds

Stranahan And Sweeney Also Win

By THOMAS C. WATSON
INS Sports Writer

SANDWICH, Eng., May 26, (INS) —The American Eagle lost a few pinfeathers in the British Amateur Golf tournament today but talons and wings survived when Willie Turnesa and three compatriots soared through to the tournament's fourth round.

Turnest, going actively into the lists for the first time in defense of his 1947 title, won twice during the day with consummate ease.

One of the little New Yorker's victims was a fellow-American, Frank Tatum, Oxford Rhodes scholar from Los Angeles, whom he eliminated without strain by 5 and 3 in the second round.

Willie Beats Tolley

In the third round, Willie ran the two-time ex-champion, Cyril Tolley, out of the tournament by the same count to launch his '48 championship aegis with something of a flourish.

But it was the other half of last year's All-American final, Dick Chapman, Pinehurst, N. C.,

Road Contractor Dies

Conrad J. Langenfelder, veteran member of C. J. Langenfelder and Sons, Inc., which has a contract from the State Roads Commission to relocate U. S. Route 40 between Allegany Grove and Frostburg, died Tuesday at his Baltimore home.

He specialized in excavating and his firm did much of the work on Army and Navy air fields—Andrews Field at Camp Spring, Md., Phillips Field at Aberdeen Proving Ground, and the airport at Edgewood Arsenal.

One of the recent major jobs he was interested in was grading and excavating for Baltimore's New Friendship international airport in nearby Anne Arundel county.

He was born into a Baltimore county farm family and was in his 40's when he branched out into the excavating business. His first jobs were cellars, done with teams and wagons.

The widow, a son and two daughters survive.

Road Contractor Dies

Conrad J. Langenfelder, veteran member of C. J. Langenfelder and Sons, Inc., which has a contract from the State Roads Commission to relocate U. S. Route 40 between Allegany Grove and Frostburg, died Tuesday at his Baltimore home.

He specialized in excavating and his firm did much of the work on Army and Navy air fields—Andrews Field at Camp Spring, Md., Phillips Field at Aberdeen Proving Ground, and the airport at Edgewood Arsenal.

One of the recent major jobs he was interested in was grading and excavating for Baltimore's New Friendship international airport in nearby Anne Arundel county.

He was born into a Baltimore county farm family and was in his 40's when he branched out into the excavating business. His first jobs were cellars, done with teams and wagons.

The widow, a son and two daughters survive.

Walt Whitman spent the last eight years of his life in a little gray house in Camden, N. J.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

It's Leap Year, Girls!

First girl in our town to "get her man" on Leap Year was the Cuppers' daughter, Jane, who wed Bill Webster's boy last Saturday.

When I asked Bill Jr. if it was true that Janey really did the proposing, Bill said: No, but she made it plain she'd make an ideal wife. Instead of looking for diversion or excitement every evening, she was content to chat beside the fire.

"I could plainly see," says Bill, "that we'd really have a happy home life—which is just exactly what I want from marriage."

I know it's usual for older folks to shake their heads over the younger generation. (It's gone on for hundreds of years, now.)

But from where I sit, young people of marrying age today are every bit as commendable as their elders were—in their temperance (a glass of beer for instance), tolerance, and common sense. So to Jane and Bill—the best of luck!

Missing Girl Phones From Pittsburgh

Wilma Mae Bennett, 16, Route 2, Cumberland, who was reported missing since March 10, has telephoned her parents from Pittsburgh where she reports she is working in a drug store.

The girl, according to authorities, said she would return here shortly for a visit.

The cost of aluminum ingots was reduced during World War II from about 20 to about 15 cents a pound. The United States production of aluminum was increased to about six times the pre-war capacity.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

ABOARD THE CHIEF, May 26—(INS)—When I read James Duncan's story in a national magazine, it gave me the shivers. But that doesn't mean I don't think Howard Emmett Rogers has grabbed himself a prize by getting the screen rights.

Joan Barton

Duncan is the former New Jersey state penitentiary inmate who offered himself as a "human guinea pig" for experiments with the dread dengue fever. He was once thought to be dead when his fever reached 106!

A one-time pro-golfer who got in trouble during prohibition and was sentenced to prison, Duncan offered himself for all types of fever tests when he heard how vitally the army needed them. It is said he is responsible for helping save the lives of thousands of soldiers.

Decorated for his wonderful contribution and released from prison, he obtained a job on a magazine in Alaska. There Rogers nailed him for his screen story. The movie follows "Chicago Episode" for the Rogers and Lee Brooks independent set up.

Alexis Smith is so much fun and was such a good scout when she made me honorary "Miss World Trade" a couple of weeks ago, I think it's high time people stopped thinking of her as Miss Iceberg of the movies.

Whether or not she'll get a chance to trot out her sense of humor with Joel McCrea in "South of St. Louis," I don't know—but at least we'll get a chance to see her in her true colors. Milton Sperling is making this Warner opus in technicolor.

I'd like to see Alexis get a really gay role—something in which she can use that devastating laugh of hers. I haven't nkown a girl to laugh like she does since Carole Lombard.

There will be no more talk about Helen Hayes playing Marmee in "Little Women." Mary Astor gets the part and Mary is a good choice, if you ask me. Personally, I don't think anything will lure Helen Hayes back to the screen again now she has turned this down. For a little while I think she was really tempted.

Mervyn Leroy is really getting along, now that this vital role is filled. Another definite is Elizabeth Taylor as Amy, the little woman who marries Peter Lawford, in the story of course. That makes it June Allyson as Jo, and Janet Leigh as Meg—and they're off and running next week.

Snapshots of Hollywood and points east:

Joan Barton and Madman Muntz are feudin', fussin' and fighting about the engagement ring he gave her. She won't give it back.

Oh, now really! When Walter Florel puts on his hat show on the coast he'll model six hats! That was cute stuff only when a guy like Tom Brenneman did it.

Kurt Kruger sailed for Europe with two of his ex-girl friends on the same boat—Vivi Stokes Taylor and Ann Hunter. Should make for an interesting trip.

Hear Lena Horne's clothes for her Slapsy Maxie stint are out of this world.

The Harold Hechts (he is Burt Lancaster's producing partner) expect a baby in August.

Some more Hollywooders Europe bound! Bonita Granville and Jack Wrather leave for France in about two months—as soon as he has "Strike It Rich" finished and in the bag.

Greg Peck and Martha Scott are going to do "The Willow and I," at La Jolla in July. This is the play in which they co-starred on Broadway before Peck came to Hollywood.

I think the whole world is weight conscious. After I printed that Sonny Tufts had lost 35 pounds in four months, he received letters from all over the country, Mexico and England asking him for the how-do.

Olive Blakeney, who plays Ma Aldrich in the series by the same name, and her husband, Ben Nedell, head east to see their daughter graduate—and then all three, Ma, Pa and Dotter go into summer stock in Boston.

Pola Negri has called off plans to reissue "Fantasia" which she made years ago. A very show-wise gent, whose opinion she respects, said, "Burn it. It will do you no good with today's audiences."

Italy's highest paid star, Rossano Brazzi, should be in Hollywood by the time you read this—but David Selznick has him all signed up. He's said to be a Ty Power type.

Well, we'll be in Chicago in a few hours saying hello to all our old friends. That's tomorrow's column. That's all today.

Young fish are called "fry" while the yolk sack upon which they first feed lasts, which usually is 30 days. When the fish passes out of this stage it is called a "fingerling."

KEEPING UP WITH

By LOUELLA PARSONS

ABOARD THE CHIEF, May 26—(INS)—When I read James Duncan's story in a national magazine, it gave me the shivers. But that doesn't mean I don't think Howard Emmett Rogers has grabbed himself a prize by getting the screen rights.

Joan Barton

Duncan is the former New Jersey state penitentiary inmate who offered himself as a "human guinea pig" for experiments with the dread dengue fever. He was once thought to be dead when his fever reached 106!

A one-time pro-golfer who got in trouble during prohibition and was sentenced to prison, Duncan offered himself for all types of fever tests when he heard how vitally the army needed them. It is said he is responsible for helping save the lives of thousands of soldiers.

Decorated for his wonderful contribution and released from prison, he obtained a job on a magazine in Alaska. There Rogers nailed him for his screen story. The movie follows "Chicago Episode" for the Rogers and Lee Brooks independent set up.

Two Programs To Leave ABC Waves After Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 26. — More changes in the Thursday night network lists are forecast in view of the fact that tomorrow night two of the network regulars are bidding goodbye.

One of them is the Willie Piper skits of ABC at 9, which the sponsor is dropping in favor of a quiz show on another night. The Piper skits, both unsponsored and sponsored, have been running for some time.

The other adieu is the Jim Backus talent hunt on MBS at 8:30, a modern version of the amateur show, but concentrating on the unusual, like super one-man bands and the like.

Child's World, ABC program in which youngsters supply the entire interest, has recorded one titled "Life on the Farm" in which seven farm boys aged 9 to 13 will do the talking. It goes on at 10 for the east and 7:30 for the midwest.

Dorothy Kirsten of the songs again is guesting with Al Jolson on NBC at 9. The program comes from Chicago at one of those studio type theaters.

The Family Theatre of MBS announces a Memorial day drama at 10 in the script based on "The Unsung Hero." Lee Bonnell and his wife Gale Storm will do the acting.

Another presidential candidate, Sen. Robert A. Taft, is to be interviewed by Ed Murrow on CBS at 7:45 . . . . Incidentally CBS television at 9 starts a televised duplication of the radio series just completed, also dealing with candidates under the title of "Presidential Timber." First will be Harold E. Stassen.

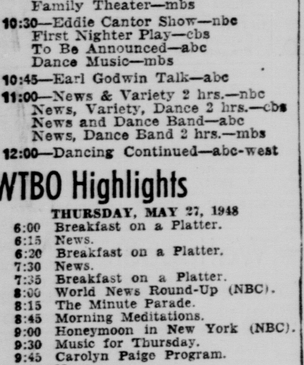
SALLY'S SALLIES



"Oops! There's no 'love' in my game, Egbert!"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Adventures Of A Soap Opera Writer

The problems faced by a writer of soap opera, that curious art form nation in pathos which bathes the five and a half hours a day, are many and most of them are rather surprising. Margaret Sangster, who writes "My True Story," which isn't a soap opera, and "Joyce Jordan M. M.," which is, turns out 45,000 words of dialogue, most of it heartbreaking, every week but finds this massive wordage among her lesser worries.

John Crosby

The most trying aspect of soap opera is the fact that it never ends. Joyce Jordan, for example, has been a heroine for twelve years and while many, many, many things have happened to her in that time, nothing which carries a hint of finality — marriage or death — may rescue Joyce permanently from her troubles. (Joyce was married once, long ago. Her husband graciously removed himself from the scene by dying). This has bothered Miss Sangster for years. Recently, after a series of my columns about soap opera in general and Joyce Jordan in particular, Miss Sangster went to the ad agency and complained that so many adventures couldn't possibly happen to one girl. Since then, the story line has been changed completely; crucial events happen to people around Joyce; she stands on the sidelines offering advice and, if needed, medical assistance.

While this small dilemma is now out of the way, the interminability of soap opera has created others. Joyce's personal adventures have subsided considerably but she still runs into more people in her endless lifetime than the average person would in six. Frequently Miss Sangster gets so fond of some of the people she invents she can't beat to part with them even though the story line calls for his or her demise.

The writer carried on a long love affair with a character named Mike Malone, whom she described as a sexy gangster. Miss Sangster had planned to kill him off but she dallied fondly with him for weeks, unable to bear the thought of parting. Finally her ardor cooled. She had the knife poised for the final thrust when the sponsor intervened. He had grown so fond of Mike he couldn't bear the thought of his death. They had to get rid of him some other way.

The devotion of housewives to certain soap opera characters is legendary. It may interest the housewives to know that the creators get equally misty-eyed about them. So do Miss Sangster's six secretaries who take her voluminous dictation. As she reaches a climax, the tension among the secretaries reaches unbearable heights. Will John recover from his incurable disease or won't he? The secretaries have to wait for the answers like any one else except they are a week ahead of the housewives.

Once Miss Sangster dictated a story of the ghost of an old man revisiting his wife. As they wandered through the house where they had both been so happy, the two secretaries who were taking all this down burst into tears. Pretty soon Miss Sangster was sobbing through her dictation too.

In addition to growing enamored of her characters, Miss Sangster has a deplorable tendency to get fond of the actors who play them. The advertising agencies frown on this sort of thing. It is felt that if Miss Sangster grows too attached to actors, she'll go out of her way to write parts for them. She threw a party for a group of actors once but this aroused such hostility from the advertising people that she never did it again. She sees little of actors any more.

Once she completes a Joyce Jordan script, she never rewrites and, in fact, never sees it again. However her "My True Story" scripts are re-written and rehashed again and again because four different sets of people have to be satisfied —the sponsor, the agency, the network and "True Story" magazine from which the stories are loosely adapted. By the time all four are pleased, Miss Sangster has rewritten the scripts three times and the resemblance between the radio script and the original magazine story has been almost totally eliminated.

Two Programs To Leave ABC Waves After Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 26. — More changes in the Thursday night network lists are forecast in view of the fact that tomorrow night two of the network regulars are bidding goodbye.

One of them is the Willie Piper skits of ABC at 9, which the sponsor is dropping in favor of a quiz show on another night. The Piper skits, both unsponsored and sponsored, have been running for some time.

The other adieu is the Jim Backus talent hunt on MBS at 8:30, a modern version of the amateur show, but concentrating on the unusual, like super one-man bands and the like.

Child's World, ABC program in which youngsters supply the entire interest, has recorded one titled "Life on the Farm" in which seven farm boys aged 9 to 13 will do the talking. It goes on at 10 for the east and 7:30 for the midwest.

Dorothy Kirsten of the songs again is guesting with Al Jolson on NBC at 9. The program comes from Chicago at one of those studio type theaters.

The Family Theatre of MBS announces a Memorial day drama at 10 in the script based on "The Unsung Hero." Lee Bonnell and his wife Gale Storm will do the acting.

Another presidential candidate, Sen. Robert A. Taft, is to be interviewed by Ed Murrow on CBS at 7:45 . . . . Incidentally CBS television at 9 starts a televised duplication of the radio series just completed, also dealing with candidates under the title of "Presidential Timber." First will be Harold E. Stassen.

SALLY'S SALLIES

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Adventures Of A Soap Opera Writer

The problems faced by a writer of soap opera, that curious art form of nation in pathos which bathes the five and a half hours a day, are many and most of them are rather surprising. Margaret Sangster, who writes "My True Story," which isn't a soap opera, and "Joyce Jordan M. M.," which is, turns out 45,000 words of dialogue, most of it heartbreaking, every week but finds this massive wordage among her lesser worries.

John Crosby

The most trying aspect of soap opera is the fact that it never ends. Joyce Jordan, for example, has been a heroine for twelve years and while many, many, many things have happened to her in that time, nothing which carries a hint of finality — marriage or death — may rescue Joyce permanently from her troubles. (Joyce was married once, long ago. Her husband graciously removed himself from the scene by dying). This has bothered Miss Sangster for years. Recently, after a series of my columns about soap opera in general and Joyce Jordan in particular, Miss Sangster went to the ad agency and complained that so many adventures couldn't possibly happen to one girl. Since then, the story line has been changed completely; crucial events happen to people around Joyce; she stands on the sidelines offering advice and, if needed, medical assistance.

While this small dilemma is now out of the way, the interminability of soap opera has created others. Joyce's personal adventures have subsided considerably but she still runs into more people in her endless lifetime than the average person would in six. Frequently Miss Sangster gets so fond of some of the people she invents she can't beat to part with them even though the story line calls for his or her demise.

The writer carried on a long love affair with a character named Mike Malone, whom she described as a sexy gangster. Miss Sangster had planned to kill him off but she dallied fondly with him for weeks, unable to bear the thought of parting. Finally her ardor cooled. She had the knife poised for the final thrust when the sponsor intervened. He had grown so fond of Mike he couldn't bear the thought of his death. They had to get rid of him some other way.

The devotion of housewives to certain soap opera characters is legendary. It may interest the housewives to know that the creators get equally misty-eyed about them. So do Miss Sangster's six secretaries who take her voluminous dictation. As she reaches a climax, the tension among the secretaries reaches unbearable heights. Will John recover from his incurable disease or won't he? The secretaries have to wait for the answers like any one else except they are a week ahead of the housewives.

Once Miss Sangster dictated a story of the ghost of an old man revisiting his wife. As they wandered through the house where they had both been so happy, the two secretaries who were taking all this down burst into tears. Pretty soon Miss Sangster was sobbing through her dictation too.

In addition to growing enamored of her characters, Miss Sangster has a deplorable tendency to get fond of the actors who play them. The advertising agencies frown on this sort of thing. It is felt that if Miss Sangster grows too attached to actors, she'll go out of her way to write parts for them. She threw a party for a group of actors once but this aroused such hostility from the advertising people that she never did it again. She sees little of actors any more.

Once she completes a Joyce Jordan script, she never rewrites and, in fact, never sees it again. However her "My True Story" scripts are re-written and rehashed again and again because four different sets of people have to be satisfied—the sponsor, the agency, the network and "True Story" magazine from which the stories are loosely adapted. By the time all four are pleased, Miss Sangster has rewritten the scripts three times and the resemblance between the radio script and the original magazine story has been almost totally eliminated.

Auto Shares Give Market Strong Push, Several Hitting Year's High

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—The stock market got a strong push from its automobile shares today.

As a result, average prices lifted to just a shade below their 21-month highs. Several of the motor issues climbed to new tops for the year or longer.

With 650,000 shares changing hands in the final hour, total transfers for the day were 1,840,000 shares, compared with 1,820,000 Tuesday.

Advances of fractions to around two points outnumbered declines 617 to 239. However, it was the narrowest five-hour market since May 12, with only 1,060 issues appearing on the tape.

Even Chrysler, still strikebound, had a gain of 1¾ points to close at 63½. Hitting new 1948 highs were General Motors, which finished ahead 1⅞ at 63⅜; Studebaker, up one; Hudson, up 1¼; white motor, up two on a dividend increase, and Nash-Kelvinator, ahead seven-eighths. Packard and Graham also gained fractions.

Du Pont climbed 2½ to 183½; General Electric touched a new top for the year, closing up 1 at 42¼; Oliver Corporation was ahead 1¼ at 33¾ after attaining a new high.

Omission of dividends or lack of action by directors depressed Zonite Products, Eureka Williams and Calumet and Hecla.

Sales of $6,440,000 compared with $6,092,000 on Tuesday.

Auto Shares Give Market Strong Push, Several Hitting Year's High

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—The stock market got a strong push from its automobile shares today.

As a result, average prices lifted to just a shade below their 21-month highs. Several of the motor issues climbed to new tops for the year or longer.

With 650,000 shares changing hands in the final hour, total transfers for the day were 1,840,000 shares, compared with 1,820,000 Tuesday.

Advances of fractions to around two points outnumbered declines 617 to 239. However, it was the narrowest five-hour market since May 12, with only 1,060 issues appearing on the tape.

Even Chrysler, still strikebound, had a gain of 1¾ points to close at 63½. Hitting new 1948 highs were General Motors, which finished ahead 1⅞ at 63¾; Studebaker, up one; Hudson, up 1¼; white motor, up two on a dividend increase, and Nash-Kelvinator, ahead seven-eighths. Packard and Graham also gained fractions.

Du Pont climbed 2¼ to 183½; General Electric touched a new top for the year, closing up 1 at 42¼; Oliver Corporation was ahead 1¼ at 33¾ after attaining a new high.

Omission of dividends or lack of action by directors depressed Zonite Products, Eureka Williams and Calumet and Hecla.

A runaway market in bonds of the Central Railroad of Georgia enlivened an otherwise quiet but generally steady session today.

Sales of $6,440,000 compared with $6,092,000 on Tuesday.

County Officials Aware Of Problem At Sylvan Retreat

Hope New Building Will Be Remedy

County officials have made no attempts to refute the charges of F. Patrick Allender, business manager of the AFL Carpenters Union here, that Sylvan Retreat is a "fire trap," but Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the County Board of Commissioners, declared yesterday the new infirmary and nursing home now being built will remedy the condition.

Allender appeared before the county board Tuesday and complained vehemently about the county asylum, saying the stairs and floors are wooden and that a large number of men are housed on a third floor with windows to fire escapes covered with heavy screening, preventing escape if it became necessary.

Not A New Condition

Wilkinson said last night, "This is certainly not a new condition. It has existed for more than half a century. Our attention was called to it some months ago, and when the present county board took office one of the first formal actions we attempted was to replace the building with a new and modern infirmary and nursing home. In the meantime we have been doing the best we can with what we have.

"The addition of this new structure which will contain 100 beds, will eliminate the crowding and hazards that exist in the old structures, so the county home and Sylvan Retreat can be utilized more adequately," he said.

"This new building is being constructed at a total cost of $265,000 to the county," Wilkinson said.

State Policy Explained

In a telephone conversation with a physician at Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville, where many state insane patients are kept, some interesting facts were revealed.

Unlike the county insane asylum, it was explained that trained and competent physicians, nurses and other skilled technicians are on duty all the time at Springfield.

No mental patients, except in a couple of isolated cases where they are extremely violet, are restrained or confined.

Patients similar to the type housed in the county asylum here are handled on an "open door" policy, the physician explained. This means that doors and windows to their wards are not barred or locked, and they are permitted access to the grounds.

Described as a large yard surrounded by a high hedge fence, patients are permitted to exercise and sit around there during the day, and go in and out of the building at will if they are capable.

There are no three-story structures at Springfield. No buildings are over two-stories high, consequently no patients can be housed on a third floor as is the case here.

Every dormitory has at least two metal or masonry stairways leading to it, the physician explained, and there are adequate fire escapes on every two-story building. The newer buildings have the "new "chute" or "slide" type escapes. None of the fire escapes are blocked off or barred.

Windows Not Barred

The physician was asked, "Do you have bars on the windows?" The reply was, "absolutely not. Some of the windows have light grill work and all are screened. But in an emergency such as a fire, these could be pushed aside or kicked out. These people are not prisoners and we follow the 'open door' policy throughout."

In some wards, the physician explained, windows are blocked so they can be opened only four or five inches at top and bottom for ventilation. This is merely a safety precaution to discourage any patient from climbing or jumping out, but it was emphasized that fire escapes are never blocked off and there are more than sufficient emergency exits.

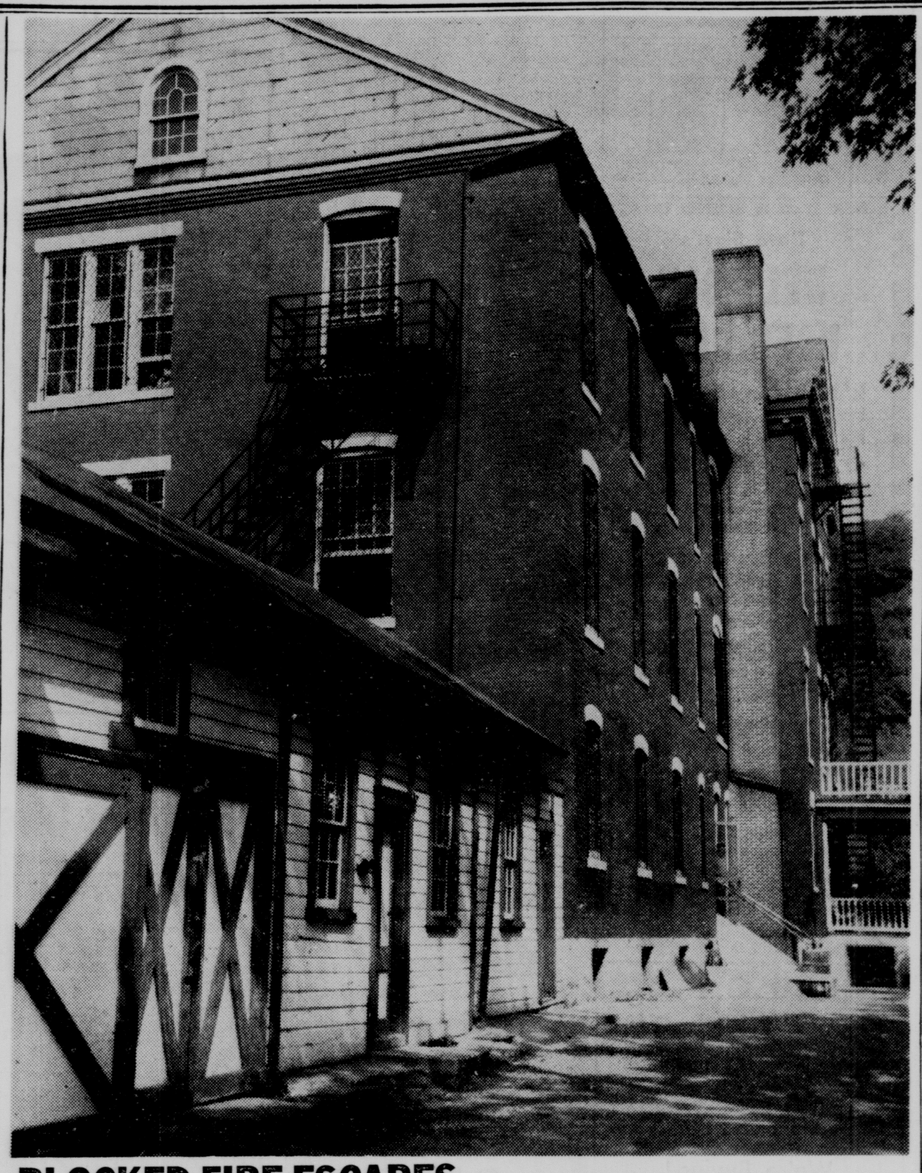
The Springfield physician, requesting that no names be used in publication of these statements said, "Patients we get from Sylvan Retreat are always clean and apparently well cared for. We have no way of knowing anything about how they are housed or what safety factors of the county asylum might or might not be. We do understand the building is quite old."

Fire Chief Reid C. Hoenicka said that an inspection made about six months ago revealed that the window screening was permanently affixed to the window frames and in case of a fire would have to be cut, or torn loose to enable inmates to use the exits.

The single door into the wards and cell blocks of the men's and women's quarters are locked from the hallway and would have to be opened by an attendant. Allender charges that in case of fire on the lower floors that the inmates "would not have a chance."

A drawing of the infirmary and other county buildings on the property shows that there are three fire hydrants. Edward Miller, supervisor of the asylum, said that there are 87 inmates with a staff of eight attendants, including cooks, nurses and others.

There are fire escapes on each end of the building and one on the front. The fact that the metal screening is bolted or affixed to the window frames makes the escapes more or less useless, Allender claims.



BLOCKED FIRE ESCAPES--This picture of Sylvan Retreat shows the exterior of the three-story building where insane patients are confined. The heavy grill work on windows can be seen in the photograph, and windows leading to fire escapes are similarly blocked making escape in event of fire almost impossible. F. Patrick Allender, business manager of AFL Carpenters Union, has termed the building a "fire trap" and charges the county housed an aged carpenter, termed sane by two local physicians, there with about 60 or 70 insane men. The union official is demanding immediate remedial measures and a complete airing of the county institution policy.

Paper Contract Talks Resumed Following Recess

Union Agrees To Presence Of "Stenog"

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP)—The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and union representatives resumed negotiations today on a new wage contract.

The negotiators began reviewing details of the present contract after a halt of some two days caused by disagreement over employment of a public stenographer.

The CIO United Paperworkers of America had objected to the use of a public stenographer, but finally agreed to proceed with him present.

Jeb Kelly, federal conciliator, sat in on the negotiations.

The parties met Monday to start talks on a new agreement, but the "free exchange of ideas" ended before it began after the union objected to the outside stenographer.

Last week the company made the union two offers. One called for an immediate five-cent an hour increase and the other provided for negotiation of the full contract, which does not expire until August.

When talks resumed Monday the union expressed a desire to negotiate the full contract for the plants at Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa.

Harry Scott, Covington, union area director, said the recess was called to give time for union representatives to contact locals.

He said the matter of the company's move to employ the stenographer to record the proceedings was a subject for discussion.

Mayor Magruder said the commissioner's post will be offered to the candidate who ranked highest among the unsuccessful candidates in the last election. Five applications have been received, he added, for the post of town recorder.

Permanent action on filling the posts, he added, is planned at the next regular meeting of the council next Tuesday.

COURT HOUSE PETS--The Court House cat, known to all attaches and others about the building as "Topsy," is seen here with her three latest additions to her family. One of the kittens arrived Saturday and the other two about 24 hours later on Sunday. The new arrivals are attracting much interest and comment and needless to say, "Topsy" revels in her increased popularity. When anyone approaches her box to see the kittens, she begins to arches her back, and mews contentedly. Cute, aren't they?

Court House Cat Has Her Kittens On Something Like Installment Plan

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT

"Topsy," the Court House pet cat, has kittens. Three of them.

Lawyers, reporters and others who visit the place regularly have often chuckled to see "Topsy" on her regular tours of the building. This week, "Topsy" and her new family have been the major topic of discussion and she has been besieged with countless visitors.

In fact, if "Topsy" got into trouble, that is legal trouble, she probably could have her pick of any member of the Allegany County Bar Association as defense counsel. But being the kind of nice friendly little pet she is, no one ever thinks of "Topsy" as being in trouble.

Now there isn't anything unusual about cats like "Topsy" having kittens, except that kittens aren't born in the Allegany County Court House every day, if ever before. And then too, most cats don't bring their kittens into the world on the installment plan like "Topsy" did.

Question Solved

One of the newcomers arrived last Saturday, and Albert Schneider, custodian of the building, nd others who knew about the blessed event, remarked, "It's funny she had only one."

But then on Sunday, two more little bundles from kitten heaven arrived, so now "Topsy" has three cute little tykers, and is extremely proud of the fact.

"Topsy" arrived at the Court House along with her sister "Mitzie" almost a year ago, when a motorist picked them up on Baltimore Pike near the city. He was en route to the Court House at the time and when he told Schneider he had two kittens which had apparently been abandoned along the road, Schneider said, "Bring 'em in."

From that moment on, they were Court House pets. That is until several weeks ago when "Mitzie" disappeared. In fact "Mitzie" ran away a couple of times, but until the last disappearance, Schneider was always able to find her somewhere in the neighborhood.

The last time, however, "Mitzie" didn't come back, and folks around the Court House are wondering if she knows she has three newly arrived neices or nephews or which ever the little fellers turn out to be. Someone else conjectured, "Maybe that's why she left."

Anyway, "Topsy" stayed at home, and a pretty good home it is. She normally has the run of the huge basement during business hours, but when someone leaves the door open, she makes a tour of inspection about the building.

Naps In Desk Drawer

"Topsy has often been seen going from office to office where she usually collects tid bits of candy, cakes etc., and on several occassions has crawled into an open desk drawer for a nap.

During the last session of the Grand Jury she was seen scratching on the door of the Grand Jury room. One of the ourt bailiffs ventured the opinion she had a complaint to file, but another declared, "no, she just doesn't like doors closed in her face."

Most everyone who knows "Topsy" likes her immediately, and "Topsy" likes everyone about the place as a general thing. There are a few choice friends, like Schneider, and Miss Mary Volk and Miss Eleanor Albright, who bring food and milk for her daily.

"Topsy" is also a special friend of this reporter and until she became busy this week with her new family, waited every afternoon about 4:30 o'clock on the stairway leading to the basement. She seemed to know that the reporter always went out that way to go to the sheriff's office, and she also knew he'd stop and give her a gentle pat or two on the head.

When they get their eyes open, this reporter won't be much surprised, if he is checked out of the Court House every evening by the whole Court House cat family, instead of just "Topsy," and, in fact, is looking forward to the event as one of those which help brighten otherwise routine working days.

Oh, yes, mother and babies are doing fine, thank you.

Building Permits Set Highest Total In Past 21 Years

49 Granted Include 16 For New Homes

Forty-nine building permits, the highest number for any month since April, 1927, were granted during the past 30 days by the city engineer's office, according to a report released yesterday.

Total estimated cost of construction represented by the 49 permits was $124,040, the highest since last September, when a permit for the $250,000 telephone building, being constructed at the intersection of Union and South Centre Streets sent the total for that month to $298,650.

Fifty-five permits were issued in April, 1927.

16 For New Homes

Among the 49 permits granted during the past month were 16 for new homes, estimated to total $82,700. This is the highest number of such permits since May a year ago, when 17 permits were granted for new homes estimated to cost $79,200.

The nine permits granted for new construction other than homes totaled $24,600. This figure includes the new $10,000 radio transmitter building being constructed on Winifred Road, and a $10,000 garage and storage building.

The 25 permits for all new construction total $107,300.

The remaining 24 permits were granted for additions and improvements, estimated to cost a total of $16,740.

In addition, eight occupancy permits were granted by City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer during the month.

Meanwhile, three building permits involving total construction costs of $12,600 were granted yesterday.

J. E. Dennison, 361 Bedford Street, secured a permit to build a one-story concrete block residence at 719 Oldtown Road in the Martin Wempe Addition. The 34 by 28-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof. Work will be done by day labor and cost is estimated at $7,500.

A permit was granted to W. L. McCusker, 105 West First Street, to build a five-room house on Lot 18, South Street, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

The structure, which will be one and one-half stories high and will measure 36 by 30 feet, will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with Inselbrick, and a roof of ruberoid shingles. Work will be done by the owner.

To Build Garage

The third building permit was granted to Kenneth Wigfield, 815 Oldtown Road, to build a one-car garage at the rear of his home. The 12 by 18-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with Inselbrick, and a roof of asphalt shingles. Work will be done by the owner at an estimated cost of $100.

Robert E. Gibbs, 213 Virginia Avenue, secured a permit to move his nut shop from 210 Virginia Avenue to 216 Virginia Avenue, in the rooms formerly used as offices by Dr. C. B. Shoemaker, local dentist. The three-story brick building is owned by the Goodfellowship Club.

C. And P. Telephone Co. To Spend $962,000

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company has authorized expenditures amounting to $962,000 for the construction and improvement of telephone facilities in Maryland.

At Thurmont and Cecilton, the directors approved expenditures of $55,000 and $41,000, respectively, for the expansion of outside plant facilities in connection with conversion of these two exchanges to dial operation and to provide relief and extensions in the exchanges and surrounding rural areas. Approximately $64,000 was approved for the installation of more than two miles of underground and aerial cable to provide additional facilities in the southern portion of the downtown Baltimore area.

Kelly And Union Meet On Contract

Harley V. Brown, Akron, District 1 URCLPWA representative, is expected to arrive here today to assist in contract negotiations between Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Contract talks will resume this morning at 10 o'clock and are scheduled also on Friday. Union officials said two meetings have been held this week, adding the talks are "still in the preliminary stages" and that there has been no definite settlement on any important issues.

Police Hold Two Men On Different Charges

City Police apprehended two men yesterday and are holding them in jail for a hearing this morning. Frank Casteel, 107 Offutt Street, was apprehended for disorderly conduct and Ben Gordon, Rawlings, is being held on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Bridge Lighting To Be Discussed

Edward J. Clopton, Cumberland division engineer for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said yesterday he plans to confer this week with City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer regarding final agreement on changes in the Washington Street bridge.

The railroad informed the Mayor and Council two weeks ago that it plans to remove the center girder of the bridge and place buffer curbs on each side, leaving a 26-foot wide driveway. Provision for lighting on the bridge, which is now illuminated only by nearby street lights, is the only item remaining to be discussed, Clopton said.

The division engineer said the curb and sidewalk on the Cumberland Street bridge have been raised five inches as a safety measure, and that new metal tread plates will be placed on the two traffic lanes. However, because of the shortage of steel, delivery date of the metal plates has not been set.

Clopton said the railroad is bearing the entire cost of work on the Cumberland Street bridge, and that it will probably also pay for the proposed work at the Washington and Fayette Street bridges.

22,574 Persons Use YMCA In April

Winfield H. Adam, acting general secretary of Central YMCA, reported yesterday that the "Y" served a total of 22,574 individuals during April, including 9,802 in organized activities.

Fifty regularly scheduled YMCA groups held 96 sessions with a total attendance of 4,126 during the month, while 4,038 persons attended "Y" activities such as athletics, social recreation, motion pictures and informal play events.

Twenty-three outside groups used YMCA facilities for 42 meetings, with a total attendance of 1,575, Adam said.

In addition, 22 separate city organizations held 44 meetings at the "Y" during that period, with a total attendance of 1,566.

Bill Would Increase Coney Clerk's Pay

The Allegany County delegation yesterday introduced a bill at the special session of the General Assembly which would enable the Mayor and Council of Lonaconing to fix the salary of Town Clerk Sara Schramm at their discretion.

Under the Lonaconing charter, the Mayor and Council can now pay the clerk not more than $300 annually.

Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, said the measure, expected to be the only county bill introduced at the session, was requested by Lonaconing officials because they feared Mrs. Schramm would resign her position because of insufficient pay.

The officials described Mrs. Schramm, he said, as being "highly efficient and conscientious" in the performance of her duties.

Cook said the bill was referred to the Rules Committee.

He added that the session, which was called by Governor Lane for consideration of emergency measures only, is expected to adjourn today.

Miner Awarded Total Disability

Edward T. Winkler, 68, Barton, won a Circuit Court jury verdict yesterday in a compensation case in which he claimed permanent and total disability. The jury deliberated only seven minutes.

Winkler, a former coal miner, employed by the Big Vein Coal Company, Inc., instituted the suit against the company, the State Industrial Accident Commission and State Accident Fund after he had been awarded only partial disability.

The accident occurred in a mine at Lonaconing, February 28, 1947.

The company contended that Winkler had been only "partially" injured. Winkler was paid $5,000 by the State Insurance Fund before the trial. As a result of the jury's findings, he will receive an additional $2,500. This will boost his compensation to the $7,500 maximum provided by state law.

The question before the jury was whether or not Winkler was 100 per cent disabled as a result of the accident.

Edward J. Ryan, Winkler's attorney, called his client "an unemployable" and said he never again would be able to work. He told the jury Winkler, his wife and four children, have been living on a total of $20 a week.

Thomas B. Finan, counsel for the company, argued that Winkler was only partially disabled and not entitled to any further compensation.

Chief Judge William A. Huster, presided.

The Weather

No rain yesterday, so the weatherman is hibernating again, and this time, for his own sake, he'd better move to distant points, as he has failed to hit a correct prediction in 11 days. Before he left for his hideout, he left a note staking his waning reputation on the forecast of today, when he again repeats it will be mostly cloudy with occasional showers, with little change in temperature. Yesterday was a fine day, not too warm, with the high for the day noted at 74 degrees. By 10:30 last night, it had slipped to around 60, but wasn't expected to slide much lower. The low for the 24-hour period was 48.

David Conley And Tommy Riggs Win Way To City Marble Tourney Finals

David Conley won the marbles championship of St. Mary's School yesterday afternoon while Tommy Riggs shot to victory at Johnson Heights School. Both will be seen in action June 8 at the city finals on the old tennis court grounds at Central Y.M.C.A.

Games today at Fort Hill, East Side and Gephart will bring the number of school champions up to eight. Seventeen schools are eligible to send representatives to the city finals where the Cumberland entry in the national finals at Wildwood, N. J., June 21-25, will be determined.

Shooting their way to the finals at St. Mary's were William Kerns, Gary Price, Rodney Hiett, David Conley, James Brown and James Beck. A four-way tie with three marbles each to Kerns, Hiett, Conley and Beck caused a play-off game to be played. This was won by Conley.

Finalists at Johnson Heights were Lewis and Johnny Ayers, Charles Shaw, Billy Chenoweth, Robert Meyers, Lue Lease and Riggs. The game was won by Riggs in one series of shots, knocking seven out of the ring, one after the other as his shooter struck in the ring after each shot that sent a marble flying outside the borderline.

Officiating at the games yesterday were Harry Kauffman, J. William Hunt, John Harbaugh, Winfield Adam, Henry A. Mackey, James Kesler and William Swandol.

County Officials Aware Of Problem At Sylvan Retreat

Hope New Building Will Be Remedy

County officials have made no attempts to refute the charges of F. Patrick Allender, business manager of the AFL Carpenters Union here, that Sylvan Retreat is a "fire trap," but Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the County Board of Commissioners, declared yesterday the new infirmary and nursing home now being built will remedy the condition.

Allender appeared before the county board Tuesday and complained vehemently about the county asylum, saying the stairs and floors are wooden and that a large number of men are housed on a third floor with windows to fire escapes covered with heavy screening, preventing escape if it became necessary.

Not A New Condition

Wilkinson said last night, "This is certainly not a new condition. It has existed for more than half a century. Our attention was called to it some months ago, and when the present county board took office one of the first formal actions we attempted was to replace the building with a new and modern infirmary and nursing home. In the meantime we have been doing the best we can with what we have.

"The addition of this new structure which will contain 100 beds, will eliminate the crowding and hazards that exist in the old structures, so the county home and Sylvan Retreat can be utilized more adequately," he said.

"This new building is being constructed at a total cost of $265,000 to the county," Wilkinson said.

State Policy Explained

In a telephone conversation with a physician at Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville, where many state insane patients are kept, some interesting facts were revealed.

Unlike the county insane asylum, it was explained that trained and competent physicians, nurses and other skilled technicians are on duty all the time at Springfield.

No mental patients, except in a couple of isolated cases where they are extremely violet, are restrained or confined.

Patients similar to the type housed in the county asylum here are handled on an "open door" policy, the physician explained. This means that doors and windows to their wards are not barred or locked, and they are permitted access to the grounds.

Described as a large yard surrounded by a high hedge fence, patients are permitted to exercise and sit around there during the day, and go in and out of the building at will if they are capable.

There are no three-story structures at Springfield. No buildings are over two-stories high, consequently no patients can be housed on a third floor as is the case here.

Every dormitory has at least two metal or masonry stairways leading to it, the physician explained, and there are adequate fire escapes on every two-story building. The newer buildings have the "new "chute" or "slide" type escapes. None of the fire escapes are blocked off or barred.

Windows Not Barred

The physician was asked, "Do you have bars on the windows?" The reply was, "absolutely not. Some of the windows have light grill work and all are screened. But in an emergency such as a fire, these could be pushed aside or kicked out. These people are not prisoners and we follow the 'open door' policy throughout."

In some wards, the physician explained, windows are blocked so they can be opened only four or five inches at top and bottom for ventilation. This is merely a safety precaution to discourage any patient from climbing or jumping out, but it was emphasized that fire escapes are never blocked off and there are more than sufficient emergency exits.

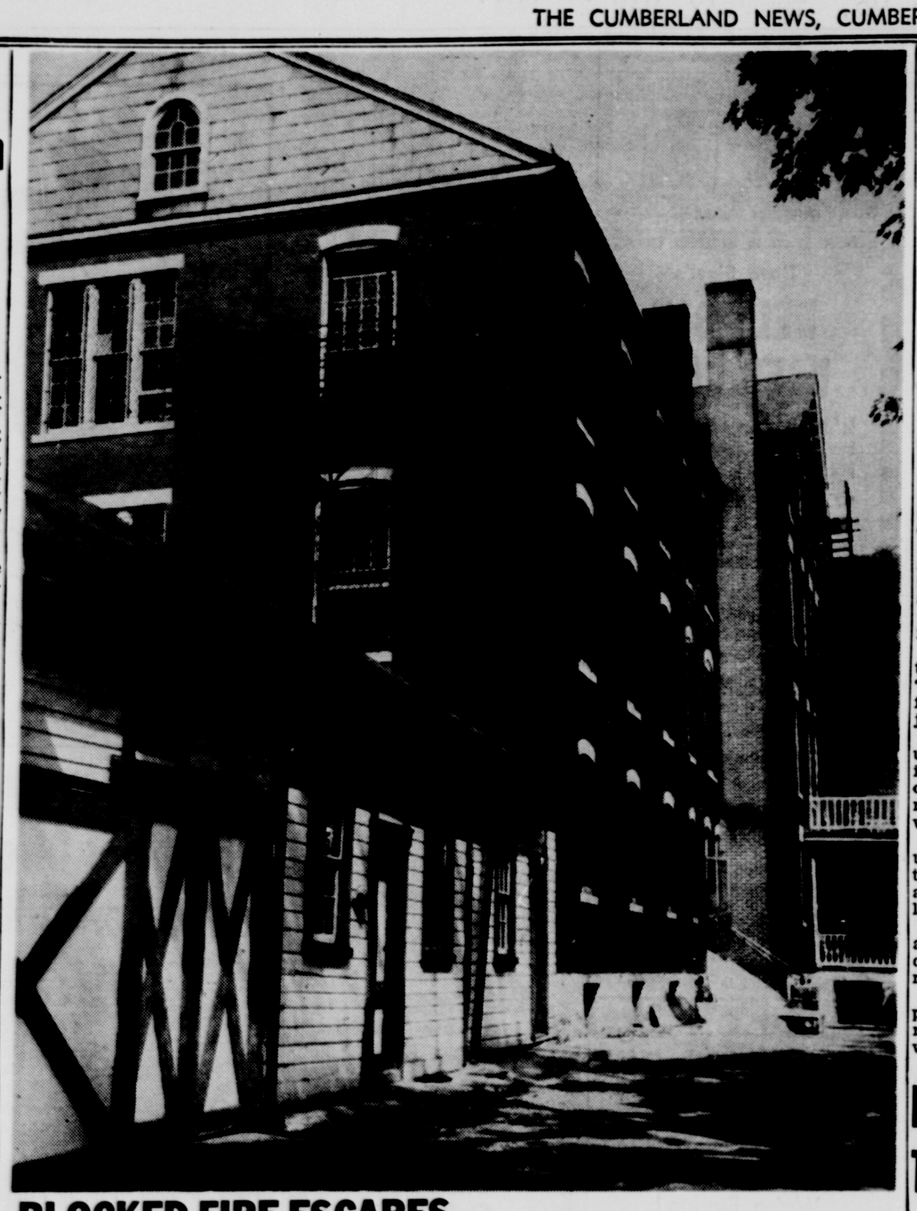
The Springfield physician, requesting that no names be used in publication of these statements said, "Patients we get from Sylvan Retreat are always clean and apparently well cared for. We have no way of knowing anything about how they are housed or what safety factors of the county asylum might or might not be. We do understand the building is quite old."

Fire Chief Reid C. Hoenicka said that an inspection made about six months ago revealed that the window screening was permanently affixed to the window frames and in case of a fire would have to be cut, or torn loose to enable inmates to use the exits.

The single door into the wards and cell blocks of the men's and women's quarters are locked from the hallway and would have to be opened by an attendant. Allender charges that in case of fire on the lower floors that the inmates "would not have a chance."

A drawing of the infirmary and other county buildings on the property shows that there are three fire hydrants. Edward Miller, supervisor of the asylum, said that there are 87 inmates with a staff of eight attendants, including cooks, nurses and others.

There are fire escapes on each end of the building and one on the front. The fact that the metal screening is bolted or affixed to the window frames makes the escapes more or less useless, Allender claims.



BLOCKED FIRE ESCAPES--This picture of Sylvan Retreat shows the exterior of the three-story building where insane patients are confined. The heavy grill work on windows can be seen in the photograph, and windows leading to fire escapes are similarly blocked making escape in event of fire almost impossible. F. Patrick Allender, business manager of AFL Carpenters Union, has termed the building a "fire trap" and charges the county housed an aged carpenter, termed sane by two local physicians, there with about 60 or 70 insane men. The union official is demanding immediate remedial measures and a complete airing of the county institution policy.

Paper Contract Talks Resumed Following Recess

Union Agrees To Presence Of "Stenog"

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP)—The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and union representatives resumed negotiations today on a new wage contract.

The negotiators began reviewing details of the present contract after a halt of some two days caused by disagreement over employment of a public stenographer.

The CIO United Paperworkers of America had objected to the use of a public stenographer, but finally agreed to proceed with him present.

Jeb Kelly, federal conciliator, sat in on the negotiations.

The parties met Monday to start talks on a new agreement, but the "free exchange of ideas" ended before it began after the union objected to the outside stenographer.

Last week the company made the union two offers. One called for an immediate five-cent an hour increase and the other provided for negotiation of the full contract, which does not expire until August.

When talks resumed Monday the union expressed a desire to negotiate the full contract for the plants at Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa.

Harry Scott, Covington, union area director, said the recess was called to give time for union representatives to contact locals.

He said the matter of the company's move to employ the stenographer to record the proceedings was a subject for discussion.

COURT HOUSE PETS--The Court House cat, known to all attaches and others about the building as "Topsy," is seen here with her three latest additions to her family. One of the kittens arrived Saturday and the other two about 24 hours later on Sunday. The new arrivals are attracting much interest and comment and needless to say, "Topsy" revels in her increased popularity. When anyone approaches her box to see the kittens, she begins to arches her back, and mews contentedly. Cute, aren't they?

Court House Cat Has Her Kittens On Something Like Installment Plan

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT

"Topsy," the Court House pet cat, has kittens. Three of them.

Lawyers, reporters and others who visit the place regularly have often chuckled to see "Topsy" on her regular tours of the building. This week, "Topsy" and her new family have been the major topic of discussion and she has been besieged with countless visitors.

In fact, if "Topsy" got into trouble, that is legal trouble, she probably could have her pick of any member of the Allegany County Bar Association as defense counsel. But being the kind of nice friendly little pet she is, no one ever thinks of "Topsy" as being in trouble.

Now there isn't anything unusual about cats like "Topsy" having kittens, except that kittens aren't born in the Allegany County Court House every day, if ever before. And then too, most cats don't bring their kittens into the world on the installment plan like "Topsy" did.

Question Solved

One of the newcomers arrived last Saturday, and Albert Schneider, custodian of the building, nd others who knew about the blessed event, remarked, "It's funny she had only one."

But then on Sunday, two more little bundles from kitten heaven arrived, so now "Topsy" has three cute little tykers, and is extremely proud of the fact.

"Topsy" arrived at the Court House along with her sister "Mitzie" almost a year ago, when a motorist picked them up on Baltimore Pike near the city. He was en route to the Court House at the time and when he told Schneider he had two kittens which had apparently been abandoned along the road, Schneider said, "Bring 'em in."

From that moment on, they were Court House pets. That is until several weeks ago when "Mitzie" disappeared. In fact "Mitzie" ran away a couple of times, but until the last disappearance, Schneider was always able to find her somewhere in the neighborhood.

The last time, however, "Mitzie" didn't come back, and folks around the Court House are wondering if she knows she has three newly arrived neices or nephews or which ever the little fellers turn out to be. Someone else conjectured, "Maybe that's why she left."

Anyway, "Topsy" stayed at home, and a pretty good home it is. She normally has the run of the huge basement during business hours, but when someone leaves the door open, she makes a tour of inspection about the building.

Naps In Desk Drawer

"Topsy has often been seen going from office to office where she usually collects tid bits of candy, cakes etc., and on several occassions has crawled into an open desk drawer for a nap.

During the last session of the Grand Jury she was seen scratching on the door of the Grand Jury room. One of the ourt bailiffs ventured the opinion she had a complaint to file, but another declared, "no, she just doesn't like doors closed in her face."

Most everyone who knows "Topsy" likes her immediately, and "Topsy" likes everyone about the place as a general thing. There are a few choice friends, like Schneider, and Miss Mary Volk and Miss Eleanor Albright, who bring food and milk for her daily.

"Topsy" is also a special friend of this reporter and until she became busy this week with her new family, waited every afternoon about 4:30 o'clock on the stairway leading to the basement. She seemed to know that the reporter always went out that way to go to the sheriff's office, and she also knew he'd stop and give her a gentle pat or two on the head.

When they get their eyes open, this reporter won't be much surprised, if he is checked out of the Court House every evening by the whole Court House cat family, instead of just "Topsy," and, in fact, is looking forward to the event as one of those which help brighten otherwise routine working days.

Oh, yes, mother and babies are doing fine, thank you.

Building Permits Set Highest Total In Past 21 Years

49 Granted Include 16 For New Homes

Forty-nine building permits, the highest number for any month since April, 1927, were granted during the past 30 days by the city engineer's office, according to a report released yesterday.

Total estimated cost of construction represented by the 49 permits was $124,040, the highest since last September, when a permit for the $250,000 telephone building, being constructed at the intersection of Union and South Centre Streets sent the total for that month to $298,650.

Fifty-five permits were issued in April, 1927.

16 For New Homes

Among the 49 permits granted during the past month were 16 for new homes, estimated to total $82,700. This is the highest number of such permits since May a year ago, when 17 permits were granted for new homes estimated to cost $79,200.

The nine permits granted for new construction other than homes totaled $24,600. This figure includes the new $10,000 radio transmitter building being constructed on Winifred Road, and a $10,000 garage and storage building.

The 25 permits for all new construction total $107,300.

The remaining 24 permits were granted for additions and improvements, estimated to cost a total of $16,740.

In addition, eight occupancy permits were granted by City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer during the month.

Meanwhile, three building permits involving total construction costs of $12,600 were granted yesterday.

J. E. Dennison, 361 Bedford Street, secured a permit to build a one-story concrete block residence at 719 Oldtown Road in the Martin Wempe Addition. The 34 by 28-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof. Work will be done by day labor and cost is estimated at $7,500.

A permit was granted to W. L. McCusker, 105 West First Street, to build a five-room house on Lot 18, South Street, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

The structure, which will be one and one-half stories high and will measure 36 by 30 feet, will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with Inselbrick, and a roof of ruberoid shingles. Work will be done by the owner.

To Build Garage

The third building permit was granted to Kenneth Wigfield, 815 Oldtown Road, to build a one-car garage at the rear of his home. The 12 by 18-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with Inselbrick, and a roof of asphalt shingles. Work will be done by the owner at an estimated cost of $100.

Robert E. Gibbs, 213 Virginia Avenue, secured a permit to move his nut shop from 210 Virginia Avenue to 216 Virginia Avenue, in the rooms formerly used as offices by Dr. C. B. Shoemaker, local dentist. The three-story brick building is owned by the Goodfellowship Club.

C. And P. Telephone Co. To Spend $962,000

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company has authorized expenditures amounting to $962,000 for the construction and improvement of telephone facilities in Maryland.

At Thurmont and Cecilton, the directors approved expenditures of $55,000 and $41,000, respectively, for the expansion of outside plant facilities in connection with conversion of these two exchanges to dial operation and to provide relief and extensions in the exchanges and surrounding rural areas. Approximately $64,000 was approved for the installation of more than two miles of underground and aerial cable to provide additional facilities in the southern portion of the downtown Baltimore area.

Police Hold Two Men On Different Charges

City Police apprehended two men yesterday and are holding them in jail for a hearing this morning. Frank Casteel, 107 Offutt Street, was apprehended for disorderly conduct and Ben Gordon, Rawlings, is being held on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Bridge Lighting To Be Discussed

Edward J. Clopton, Cumberland division engineer for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said yesterday he plans to confer this week with City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer regarding final agreement on changes in the Washington Street bridge.

The railroad informed the Mayor and Council two weeks ago that it plans to remove the center girder of the bridge and place buffer curbs on each side, leaving a 26-foot wide driveway. Provision for lighting on the bridge, which is now illuminated only by nearby street lights, is the only item remaining to be discussed, Clopton said.

The division engineer said the curb and sidewalk on the Cumberland Street bridge have been raised five inches as a safety measure, and that new metal tread plates will be placed on the two traffic lanes. However, because of the shortage of steel, delivery date of the metal plates has not been set.

Clopton said the railroad is bearing the entire cost of work on the Cumberland Street bridge, and that it will probably also pay for the proposed work at the Washington and Fayette Street bridges.

22,574 Persons Use YMCA In April

Winfield H. Adam, acting general secretary of Central YMCA, reported yesterday that the "Y" served a total of 22,574 individuals during April, including 9,802 in organized activities.

Fifty regularly scheduled YMCA groups held 96 sessions with a total attendance of 4,126 during the month, while 4,038 persons attended "Y" activities such as athletics, social recreation, motion pictures and informal play events.

Twenty-three outside groups used YMCA facilities for 42 meetings, with a total attendance of 1,575, Adam said.

Bill Would Increase Coney Clerk's Pay

The Allegany County delegation yesterday introduced a bill at the special session of the General Assembly which would enable the Mayor and Council of Lonaconing to fix the salary of Town Clerk Sara Schramm at their discretion.

Under the Lonaconing charter, the Mayor and Council can now pay the clerk not more than $300 annually.

Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, said the measure, expected to be the only county bill introduced at the session, was requested by Lonaconing officials because they feared Mrs. Schramm would resign her position because of insufficient pay.

The officials described Mrs. Schramm, he said, as being "highly efficient and conscientious" in the performance of her duties.

Cook said the bill was referred to the Rules Committee.

He added that the session, which was called by Governor Lane for consideration of emergency measures only, is expected to adjourn today.

Miner Awarded Total Disability

Edward T. Winkler, 68, Barton, won a Circuit Court jury verdict yesterday in a compensation case in which he claimed permanent and total disability. The jury deliberated only seven minutes.

Winkler, a former coal miner, employed by the Big Vein Coal Company, Inc., instituted the suit against the company, the State Industrial Accident Commission and State Accident Fund after he had been awarded only partial disability.

The accident occurred in a mine at Lonaconing, February 28, 1947.

The company contended that Winkler had been only "partially" injured. Winkler was paid $5,000 by the State Insurance Fund before the trial. As a result of the jury's findings, he will receive an additional $2,500. This will boost his compensation to the $7,500 maximum provided by state law.

The question before the jury was whether or not Winkler was 100 per cent disabled as a result of the accident.

Edward J. Ryan, Winkler's attorney, called his client "an unemployable" and said he never again would be able to work. He told the jury Winkler, his wife and four children, have been living on a total of $20 a week.

Thomas B. Finan, counsel for the company, argued that Winkler was only partially disabled and not entitled to any further compensation.

Chief Judge William A. Huster, presided.

The Weather

No rain yesterday, so the weatherman is hibernating again, and this time, for his own sake, he'd better move to distant points, as he has failed to hit a correct prediction in 11 days. Before he left for his hideout, he left a note staking his waning reputation on the forecast of today, when he again repeats it will be mostly cloudy with occasional showers, with little change in temperature. Yesterday was a fine day, not too warm, with the high for the day noted at 74 degrees. By 10:30 last night, it had slipped to around 60, but wasn't expected to slide much lower. The low for the 24-hour period was 48.

Shooting their way to the finals at St. Mary's were William Kerns, Gary Price, Rodney Hiett, David Conley, James Brown and James Beck. A four-way tie with three marbles each to Kerns, Hiett, Conley and Beck caused a play-off game to be played. This was won by Conley.

Finalists at Johnson Heights were Lewis and Johnny Ayers, Charles Shaw, Billy Chenoweth, Robert Meyers, Lue Lease and Riggs. The game was won by Riggs in one series of shots, knocking seven out of the ring, one after the other as his shooter struck in the ring after each shot that sent a marble flying outside the borderline.
